That Awful Earthquake
American Geese
What's Advertising?
A Mother's Statue

BY ARTHUR BRISBANE

PART of California feels a slight earthquake tremor, lasting a few seconds, hurting nobody, and eastern newspapers make as much fuss as though heaven had fallen upon the earth. They forget that one single mule in the Southeast recently killed more people than earthquakes have killed in California in 50 years.

• • •

HERBERT FLEISHHACKER, from San Francisco, wires that the "whole terrible earthquake" of much exaggeration makes so much talk about "equal an ordinary automobile smashup," and it would be a mashup without any loss of life.

• • •

It is well to be polite to a visiting lady, whether she be—through accident of birth—a queen, or, by gift of genius, a Mme. Curie. But, when Philadelphia, where the Declaration of Independence was signed, erects a statue, puts a foreign-born queen upon it and fools pass before her, kissing her hand, that becomes a little too much. There should be some limit to American toadyism and snobbishness.

• • •

EVERY American ignoramus with money ought to know that kissing the hand means admission of inferiority. Those that kissed the Queen's hand probably were her inferiors by millions of miles, but why ADMIT IT so blatantly?

• • •

THE fools may say: "It is the custom in Roumania to kiss the queen's hand. Therefore we should kiss her hand for politeness." Why? Suppose it were the custom in Roumania to kiss the Queen's foot. Would our proud Americans strain their backs to kiss that foot? In some oriental countries those that approach the king get down on their hands and knees and lick the floor as they approach the throne. Should we feel bound to do that if some oriental monarch came to visit us?

PRESIDENT COOLIDGE will talk to advertising men next week and will tell them, undoubtedly, that what you DON'T say is sometimes more important than what you DO say.

If you say too much the public doesn't listen. If you say just enough and make the public think five times as many words as you have written, then you get the best possible advertisement.

• • •

GEORGE EASTMAN of Rochester returned yesterday from Africa, bringing five dead lions and some rhinoceroses, also dead. He knows the importance of making the public THINK as it reads. "You press the button, we do the rest," is the ideal advertisement.

• • •

MR. MARLAND, of the oil company, has paid ten American-European sculptors $10,000 each to prepare models of a statue in honor of the mothers of the western frontier. Mr. Marland notices that nothing has ever been done to honor the pioneer mothers that made settlement of the West possible. He proposes to do something now.

Little has been done anywhere, ever to honor any of the world's mothers. Men seem to have an idea that great men manufacture themselves.

GREAT BRITAIN forms a $500,000,000 trust of chemicals, explosives and allied industries.

Great continetal trusts combining several nations are politely styled "cartels."

Whatever they call it in Europe, America will do well to encourage great business units here. We shall need them. The British intend "to stand against the world." This country will do the same with a good tariff wall and keep American work for American workmen, American workmen, American profits for American business.

This is no time for mooning about "saving the world." American presidents, congressmen and dog catchers are paid to worry about THIS country.

• • •

BANDITS accustomed to robbing mail cars and wagons will notice here some interference with their profession. Marines with repeating rifles and pistols will be close to the money and mail bags and their instructions are to fire rapidly.

This is the only country calling itself civilized in which such protection for mails is found necessary. It takes us back to the old frontier days when the mail coach driver had a man with a rifle sitting beside him.

CRAZED FATHER MURDERS THREE GIRLS WITH AX

Fourth Daughter Dodges Wild Swing of Brockton Man and Flees

MAKES FULL CONFESSION

Child Awakens To Find Parent Standing Over Her and Muttering

Brockton, Mass., Oct. 23—James Stoddard, a 38-year-old father, in a fit of insanity early today killed with an ax his three small daughters in the garret-apartment they occupied at 11 Everet-st, this city.

The fourth daughter dodged a wild swing of the ax after witnessing the slaying of one of her sisters, was knocked through the doorway of the room when struck by a second glancing blow of the weapon and escaped from the house.

In her night gown and barefoot, this child, only 14, raced for 200 yards through the streets, screaming. A passerby brought her to police headquarters where the entire night force was dispatched to the scene.

Stoddard, a laborer, was employed until two weeks ago by the A. E. O'Toole Plumbing Co.

The dead children are Florence, 13; Edna, 12; Mildred, 7.

Marion was the daughter who escaped.

Makes Signed Confession

"The thought came to me I had better kill them," Stoddard said in a signed confession to the police. "I then thought I might have made a mistake."

The family, which is motherless, occupied the top of a 2½ story house. Marion and Edna slept together in one room, while Florence and Mildred slept in another.

Marion awakened suddenly this morning and saw her father standing in the bedroom muttering. In one hand he held a lighted lamp; in the other the ax. Even as Marion's startled eyes took in the situation, the crazed man swung the ax high and brought it down on Edna's head. With a scream, Marion leaped from bed.

"Don't, papa, don't," she screamed.

In a frenzy, the father turned on her and swung. Marion skipped and dodged. A second swing and the blunt side of the ax struck her on the side and sent her flying from the bedroom.

POLITICAL SOCIALS ARE PLANNED BY DEMOCRATS

New Departure in Rallies Will Be Given Trial in Rural Communities

A series of political meetings where the crowds will be entertained with social features rather than the customary offerings of campaign orators has been planned by the Democratic organization of Marion County.

Announcement that this new plan will be tried out in party rallies to be held next week in LaRue, Caledonia and Waldo was made today by Hector S. Young, chairman of the County Central Committee, who believes that the social gatherings will prove a popular substitute for the old-fashioned speech-making programs.

The chief object is to give candidates for county and district offices an opportunity to meet voters. The only formal program will be the introduction of these candidates who may give short informal talks. There will be no set speeches, however, the chairman states.

The outstanding feature of the programs at the meetings will be music by orchestras from schools in the LaRue, Caledonia and Waldo districts and the serving of lunch at each place. A period of social intermingling will conclude the program.

The meeting at LaRue will take place the night of Tuesday, Oct. 26, the Caledonia rally is set for Thursday, Oct. 28 and the one in Waldo for Friday, Oct. 29.

NO MONEY, NO MANAGER, THAT'S JUST ASHTABULA

Ashtabula, Oct. 23—This city today is faced with the task of operating the municipal government on an exhausted treasurer and without a city manager.

The problem was brought about when City Manager W. M. Cotton resigned, effective Dec. 1. His resignation has been accepted by the city council.

Facing the necessity of curtailing public utilities the council met last night to devise means of weathering the crisis.

A controversy arose which finally ended when Cotton offered to quit. He declared that he preferred to step out rather than be the "bone of contention" which was preventing transfer of funds necessary to operate the city.

DEPORTATION OF WRIGHT'S COMPANION CONSIDERED

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 23—Deportation of Mme. Olga Milanoff, on charges of "moral turpitude" is being considered by the Department of Labor, it was revealed to International News Service by Charles W. Seaman, head of the Labor Department, here today after Svetlana, the Montenegrin dancer's nine-year-old daughter, was spirited off to St. Paul and placed beyond the jurisdiction of Minneapolis County courts in a new effort to block the attempt of Vladimir Hinzenberg, father of the child and former husband of Olga to gain custody of his daughter.

TETRAZZINI, 55, WEDS MAN, 32, IN FLORENCE TODAY

MME. TETRAZZINI

Florence, Italy, Oct. 23—Mme. Tetrazzini, 55-year-old prima donna of grand opera and Pietro Vernati, 32-year-old Italian, were married at 8 o'clock this morning in St. Mary's Church.

Later, they went through a civil ceremony at Plazzo Vecchio. The diva's young husband was one of her former tenants, living in one of the flats which she owns in Rome. The couple left Florence immediately after the ceremony on their honeymoon, which will include stops at Perugia, Pisa and Rome. In January, they lan to leave for London, enroute to the United States, where Mme. Tetrazzini will appear in operatic roles in New York and San Francisco.

WARSHIPS, PLANES SENT WITH AID TO REFUGEES

Seventeen Americans Dead at Isle of Pines; Boats To Arrive Sunday

Havana, Oct. 23—With Cuban airplanes crippled and unable to fly, American warships and airplanes from the American naval base at Guantanamo are enroute to the Isle of Pines to aid in relief work.

Efforts to send relief to the Isle of Pines from Havana have proven fruitless as the road between this city and Batabano, the port of embarkation for the Isle of Pines, is impassable. Many of those injured in the Isle of Pines have been brought to Batabano by the steamer Colon. There has been no addition to the list of 17 Americans who are among the dead at Isle of Pines.

With 80 of its residents dead, many of them still unburied, with hundreds of others injured and thousands without shelter, Havana today extended a helping hand to the Isle of Pines, more severely hit than was the capital city itself by the hurricane which wrought havoc throughout western Cuba on Wednesday.

Thirty-two dead, a hundred injured and virtually all property on the island damaged or destroyed, was the report brought here by the first boatload of refugees from the Isle of Pines. Among the dead were 17 Americans. A score of Americans were listed among the injured.

Medical assistance and food is badly needed by the inhabitants of the island, the refugees said. The survivors were in a pitiful and desperate state when the refugees left.

An authoritative count of the dead in the storm still was lacking today but the last figures placed the number at 300, with 1,000 injured. Virtually the entire resources of the government were engaged in administering to the injured and the homeless and in clearing up the debris left by the storm.

CRUISER WILL REACH ISLE OF PINES TODAY

Washington, Oct. 23—The cruiser Milwaukee and the destroyer Goff will arrive in the Isle of Pines Sunday at daybreak to give aid to the hurricane-torn area, and a coast guard relief expedition, with three boats, left Key West early this morning with medical supplies for the sufferers, the Navy Department announced today.

FORMER MARION MAN IS CLAIMED BY DEATH

Mrs. J. B. Stauffer of near Galion and Mr. and Mrs. John Butts, Holmesdpl, left today for Huntington, Ind., where they were called by the death of William Butts, brother of Mrs. Stauffer and Mr. Butts. Mr. Butts died Friday in a hospital at Ft. Wayne, Ind., where he went for treatment. He was a former resident of Marion and was employed as an engineer with the Erie Railroad Co.

DWIGHT BOGER HURT IN GRID GAME AT LA RUE

Dwight Boyer, member of the senior class and reserve football team at Harding High School, is suffering a dislocated left shoulder at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Boyer, 222 S. Vine-st, as a result of injury received in Friday's game at LaRue.

Boyer, who plays in the backfield, was injured early in the game while tackling one of the players on the LaRue team, which won by a score of 13 to 0.

WORK TO START ON WATER PLANT EARLY IN 1927

First Steps To Provide Softener, Required Under Franchise, Taken

COST TO BE $140,000

Progress Announced at Dinner Given by George Whysall to City Officials

First steps preliminary to construction of Marion's city water softening plant which will be placed in operation next year were taken this week and definite plans for the improvement will be completed in the near future.

Engineers of the Marion Water Co. are now engaged in drafting plans and after they have completed their work the company will be ready for actual construction, which is expected to start early in 1927.

The water softening system, which is provided for in the franchise recently granted the water company, will cost approximately $140,000. It will reduce the degree of hardness in the city water to a point where it will be suitable for laundry use and all other domestic purposes.

Progress Announced

Announcement of progress made in preparations made for installation of the softening system was made Friday night by George H. Whysall, general manager of the Marion Water Co., to a group of city officials who were his guests at a 7 o'clock dinner at Hotel Harding.

The dinner was held in celebration of a recent completion of the water company's new main pipe line connecting the plant two miles west of Marion with the city's water distribution system. Construction of this improvement, which was also stipulated in the franchise provisions, gives the city two main force lines direct to the plant, and furnishes Marion the best and most dependable water service in its history.

As a result of the double force line equipment, consisting of the old line which has been in use since the plant began operating 35 years ago and the new one just completed, the water company is now prepared to provide service for approximately 20,000 con-

END OF AIMEE'S TRIAL NOW APPEARS IN SIGHT

Disbursements of Evangelist's Defense Fund Are Being Investigated

Los Angeles, Oct. 23—S. S. Hahn, attorney for Mrs. Lorraine Wiseman-Sielaff, announced today that he will file a suit for $50,000 damages against Aimee Semple McPherson for asserted slander on behalf of Mrs. Virla Kimball, of Oakland, sister of Mrs. Wiseman-Sielaff, principal prosecution witness and co-defendant with Mrs. McPherson at the present preliminary hearing.

• • •

Los Angeles, Oct. 23—The end of the preliminary hearing of Aimee Semple McPherson, her mother, Mrs. Minnie Kennedy, and Mrs. Lorraine Wiseman Sielaff, all charged with conspiracy, appeared to be in sight today.

Defense attorneys announced they would probably conclude testimony by next Thursday.

The greater part of yesterday was consumed in investigating disbursements of the fund raised by Mrs. McPherson for her defense.

Leslie Gatliff, a member of the Douglas, Ariz., police force, admitted yesterday on the witness stand that he received $1,100 for his services. Part of this amount, he said, was given to witnesses who were brought here to testify.

The state is attempting to prove that Mrs. McPherson's story of being kidnaped and taken to Mexico was a hoax and that she spent at least part of the time she was missing at Carmel in company with her former radio operator, Kenneth G. Ormiston, also a co-defendant and who is being sought by officers.

Mrs. Sielaff claims the evangelist offered her money to find a woman to pose as Ormisson's companion at Carmel.

COUNTY REAPPRAISAL PRACTICALLY COMPLETE

Work of reappraising real estate in Marion County outside the city of Marion, which has been in progress at the County Auditor's office for several months, is nearing completion. It is expected that final reports from appraisers will be received next week and that immediately thereafter the results will be reviewed by the County Board of Revision and members of the State Tax Commission.

Before the work of placing the new valuations on the tax books can be started, however, an opportunity must be given property owners to file complaints, so that it will probably be several weeks before the final details of the appraisement are attended to.

Members of the State Tax Commission are expected here next week to go over the appraisal sheets.

MAY NOT ASK THAT PAIR BE INDICTED BY JURY

Somerville, N. J., Oct. 23—With one alleged accessory to the Hall-Mills dual murder held for the grand jury and another discharged from custody, belief grew today that indictments against them would not be asked of the present Somerville grand jury, but would be deferred for another inquisitorial body.

MOTHER BREAKS 140-MILE SWIM MARK

Mrs. Charlotte M. Schoemmell is shown with her daughter Ruth, 7, and son Harold, 10, after having set up a new record for her 140-mile swim to New York. She broke the old record by more than two hours despite severe weather.

Throat Specialist Called to Give Queen Marie Aid and Relief from Her Cold

Long Speech Is Believed To Have Aggravated Condition; Roumanian Royal Visitor Pleads for Better Understanding Between America and Her Nation

New York, Oct. 23—A throat specialist was called today to attend Queen Marie of Roumania at her suite in the Hotel Ambassador.

The queen has been suffering from a slight cold for the last two days and it is believed that a long speech last night at a dinner arranged in her honor by the Iron & Steel Institute aggravated the condition of her throat.

Shortly after the queen arose at 7 o'clock this morning, Dr. Arthur B. Duel was summoned.

The queen did not retire until after 2 o'clock this morning and had her breakfast in bed. She is scheduled to attend a luncheon today at the Colony Club, an exclusive women's organization.

Even a queen gets tired.

Heard on Radio

She ended her busted day in America by arriving at her hotel at 2:20 o'clock this morning, after three disappointing and then surprising radio fans who listened in all over the country for her scheduled "Message to American women." Because of a misunderstanding as to when the queen was to broadcast, the Radio Corporation of America was forced to announce that the queen's speech had been cancelled.

A frantic hook-up, however, made it possible for invisible audiences to hear what Queen Marie said to the members of the American Iron & Steel Institute at a dinner in the Hotel Commodore.

She pleaded for a better understanding between America and Roumania and said she had consecrated the remainder of her own life to peace and charity.

Similar Governments

She asserted that government in Roumania was much like government in the United States and that she and her husband, King Ferdinand, occupied positions similar to that of President Coolidge, except that as sovereigns they were not elected. But, she said, if ever Roumanians decided that they wanted a republic she and King Ferdinand would gladly step aside from their thrones and bow to the wishes of the people.

From the Commodore, the queen was taken to the home of Judge Gary, Fifth-ave, for supper.

To Review Infantry

The principal affair on Queen Marie's schedule today is the reviewing, at 4 o'clock this afternoon, of the 106th infantry, N. G., New York, in Brooklyn.

Before that, she is the guest at a reception and tea in Edward Jonas' art gallery, and at 8 o'clock tonight she and Prince Nicholas are to be guests at the Washington Suigrave in suite at the Biltmore Hotel.

Tomorrow night in the Cascades ballroom of the Biltmore, the queen of Roumania will be tendered a ball in her honor by Mayor Walker in behalf of the city of New York.

BLAME FOG FOR DEATH OF THREE CANTON MEN

Accident Occurs When B. & O. Passenger Train Strikes Auto

Hereford, Oct. 23—Three persons were killed here early this morning when an eastbound Baltimore & Ohio passenger train collided with an auto.

The dead: A. J. Doe, Paul Richards, James Gamble.

All are residents of Canton. Identification was made by County Coroner Simms at Ashland.

The accident occurred during the pre-darkness of early morning.

A light fog also is believed to have aided in bewildering the driver who failed to see the oncoming express train.

The bodies were taken to Ashland.

TRAFFIC DELAYS HERE CAUSE OF COMPLAINTS

Congestion at Signal Lights Creates Problem for Marion Auto Club

Directors of the Marion County Auto Club will hold their next luncheon meeting Friday at Harding Hotel. The meeting scheduled to be held this week was postponed because a number of directors were out of the city.

"Traffic Conditions in Marion" will be the subject for next week's meeting.

Many complaints are received daily at club and police headquarters to the effect that traffic moves so slowly on the "change" signal where traffic lights are in use. Many times the waiting driver is delayed by the driver ahead and is caught in the change of traffic according to complaints.

A majority of the complaints have been made as a result of inexperienced women drivers trying to operate automobiles in the congested district during rush hours.

However, with slippery streets and wet windshields the last few days, motorists as well as some of the new drivers have had fairly good success to be cautious. Accidents in Marion the last four weeks have been few, according to reports.

CHURCH TO BUILD

Youngstown, Oct. 23—The Westminster Presbyterian Church here today announced plans for improvements to its building which will cost $100,000. Rev. Henry White is the pastor.

REFUSAL OF PASSPORT TO COUNTESS INVESTIGATED

Washington, Oct. 23—The District of Columbia Supreme Court today ordered Secretary of State Kellogg to appear before Justice Siddons next Saturday and show cause why a passport should not be issued to Countess Karolyi, wife of the first Hungarian president.

Countess Karolyi had been invited to this county as the guest of Ralph Beaver Strassburger, Norristown, Pa., newspaper publisher.

BANK TELLER HELD

Columbus, Oct. 23—Emil J. Meyer, 50, occupied a cell at the city prison here today while authorities conducted an investigation of an alleged $25,000 shortage in Meyer's accounts in connection with his work as receiving teller at the Huntington National Bank and as cashier for the Ohio Farm Bureau. Meyer was employed by local banks for 23 years.

Armenia Reports Heavy Death Toll from Earthquake

Hundreds Dead and Thousands Injured and Homeless, Cablegram Received at Near East Relief Offices Declares; Called Severest Kind

TEMBLOR CONTINUES NIGHT AND DAY

Fifteen Thousand Children in Orphanage Forced To Sleep Outdoors; All Americans in Personnel Reported Safe; Relief Corps Is Mobilized

NEW YORK, Oct. 23—A heavy death toll has resulted from an earthquake which late last night and early today shook most of Armenia, it is indicated in a cablegram received by the Near East Relief office.

The reports to the Armenian headqquarters of the Near East Relief indicate that "hundreds are dead and thousands are injured and homeless," the cablegram to the New York office said.

The following cablegram was received this morning from Joseph Beach, director general of the Near East Relief in Russia and Armenia, from Erevan, Russian Armenia:

"The severest kind of an earthquake shook Armenia on the night of the twenty-second, continuing on the twenty-third.

Hundreds Dead

"Reports from Leninakan and surrounding towns in the Ervan district, indicate that hundreds are dead and thousands homeless. The Near East Relief building at Leninakan was severely damaged. All the orphanage workers and 15,000 children are sleeping outdoors. All the American personnel safe and serious casualties among children. The entire staff of 150 doctors and nurses have been mobilized with trucks and ambulances to aid the injured in the city.

"We are utilizing all the available tents, bakeries and personnel in relief work. There is an urgent necessity for an appropriation to meet this emergency."

Leninakan, Armenia, is the headquarters for Near East Relief in Russia and Armenia. It is a city of between 30,000 and 40,000 population. There are 300 Near East relief buildings located there, on the outskirts of the city. They house 15,000 children and are valued at $1,500.

BERMUDA IS SWEPT BY STORM, LITTLE DAMAGE

Houses Unroofed and Trees Blown Down; Heavy Rain Accompanies Winds

Hamilton, Bermuda, Oct. 23—Although Bermuda has been swept by a terrific storm, comparatively little damage has been done. The storm reached its height at noon.

Houses were unroofed and trees were blown down.

A heavy rain accompanied the winds.

CALL MEETING TO BRING NEW PLANT TO CITY

Conference To Be Monday at 2 P. M. at Chamber of Commerce Office

Marion has the opportunity to acquire a well-established industry within the next 90 days.

An immediate decision is necessary.

In view of this and the fact that location of this industrial concern here rests with the citizens of Marion the Chamber of Commerce has scheduled a meeting for 2 o'clock Monday afternoon at the chamber offices over the Marion National Bank.

All business and professional men and citizens in general are urged to attend this conference.

Facts concerning the new factory were made public today by George B. Knapp, president of the Chamber of Commerce, who with other business men have been actively engaged in a campaign to bring industries to Marion.

In a statement to the Star today President Knapp said:

Knapp's Statement

"Marion has an opportunity for the location of a very attractive industry in this city within the next 90 days. The decision as to whether or not Marion wants this industry rests entirely with the citizens of Marion. The opportunity is here but requires immediate decision.

"A meeting will be held at the Marion Chamber of Commerce Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock, at which meeting all of the business men, professional men and citizens generally interested in Marion are invited to attend.

"Marion has sought new industry. Marion wants new industry. The opportunity is here. The decision must be made Monday afternoon. If you are interested in the future development of Marion industrially you are not only invited but urged to attend this meeting."

MICHIGAN STUDENTS INJURED AND JAILED

Police Forced To Use "Tear" Bullets To Drive Back "Theater Rushes"

Ann Arbor, Oct. 23—Two University of Michigan students were in a local hospital here today nursing head wounds and several more were in jail following clashes with local police last night during three "theater rushes."

Following a "pep" meeting at Hill Auditorium, addressed by Judge Frank Murphy, of Detroit, 400 students attempted to rush the Arcade Movie Theater which was surrounded by a cordon of police.

The police wielded clubs on the students' heads but the mob was too great for them and as the officers were being pushed back, they finally flashed weapons, loaded with tear gas bullets, and fired.

Hal Roach is Gathering

MARCELINE DAY ENROUTE TO SUCCESS

Big Names for Comedies

There won't be a scarcity of comedies built around well-known players this winter since Hal Roach has been steadily gathering in "big names" under his banner. At present 30 or 40 actors and actresses are under contract to him.

Among the women most recently signed are Marjorie Daw, Priscilla Dean, Anna May Wong, Mae Busch and Agnes Ayres.

Seems as if really good comedies become scarcer each day while the slap stick variety flourishes. What with Chaplin, Langdon, Keaton and Harold Lloyd firmly devoted to feature length productions there is a good market for comedies like those Hal Roach proposes to put out in his "Star Comedy" series.

Almost a year ago "Wampas", an organization of West Coast publicity men, selected Marceline Day as one of the 13 girls most likely to attain success in motion pictures during 1926. Now Marceline, determined to live up to their predictions, has succeeded in making such a good impression through her work that John Barrymore has selected her for his leading lady in his latest picture, "The Beloved Rogue," based on the life of Francois Villon.

The other girls selected by "Wampas" were Mary Astor, Mary Brian, Joyce Compton, Joan Crawford, Dolores del Rio, Janet Gaynor, Sally Long, Edna Marion, Sally O'Neill, Vera Reynolds and Fay Wray.

None of them have attained stardom but not a few have demonstrated that "Wampas" members are pretty acute judges of what constitutes a good actress.

Now stars are in the bud. Some will reach the fullness of their bloom, while others will feel the frosty nip that spells oblivion or back to the ranks. Here are some of the experimentations: Metro-Goldwyn has signed Ralph Forbes, handsome English actor, and Barbara Kent, who was "Miss Hollywood" in a beauty contest. Paramount is laying hopes on Jean de Neville, Paris dancing beauty; Gary Cooper, from the extra ranks, and Mon Palma, developed in Paramount's school of acting. Pat Rooney, vaudeville comic, has been taken from the stage by Hal Roach to star. Yola d'Avril, Paris beauty, and Larry Kent, a new juvenile, are First National entries. Fox signed Ted McNamara, a youthful Australian, and Universal has Merna Kay, a fifteen year-old Hollywood miss. The talented Duncan twins have been lured from the stage by First National. Gabrielle Fairbanks, a niece of Doug, is Gloria Swanson's entry. Contracts with all of these betoken their sponsors' confidence.

Another member of the Fairbanks' family has come to the screen and within the period of a few months has won an important role.

She is Elobelle Fairbanks, daughter of John Fairbanks, brother and formerly manager of Douglas, and she now is playing the part of Gloria Swanson's sister in the star's production of "Sunya."

While Albert Parker was directing Douglas Fairbanks in "The Black Pirate" last year, he made a screen test of Miss Fairbanks, who had just been graduated from college. Gloria Swanson has been looking for new faces for her production and Mr. Parker, who is directing "Sunya," showed her the test of Miss Fairbanks.

When Miss Fairbanks arrived in New York from the coast, she told Miss Swanson and Mr. Parker she desired to make her own way in films and for this reason wished to discard the family name. After numerous conferences the name Florence Faire was decided upon and the public duly advised of the change. But after a few weeks, it was learned there were several other Faires and Fairs on the stage and the films. Whereupon, Miss Fairbanks went back to her own name.

Her previous motion picture experience has been confined to several extra bits. She is a blonde and is about five feet two inches in height.

Among the other new faces Miss Swanson will have in her picture are John Boles, musical comedy star; Andres de Segurola, impresario and opera singer, and Hugh Miller, who has been starred in English and German productions.

Although Raymond Hatton has played in over 400 pictures he has been either a character or villain with but two exceptions. Poor Raymond, the hero's applause is not for him, but how he does bring down the house with his comedy antics!

Bebe Daniels has "Stranded in Paris" as her latest vehicle. She plays the part of a New York girl, who, after cutting a wide swath in Paris night life, suddenly finds herself penniless.

Von Stroheim gave it out that the reason work was stopped recently on his "The Wedding March" was because of tonsilitis. But rumor has it that matters are a bit out of step between "Von" and Pat Powers, his present backer. Pat laid aside $600,000 for the picture and is said to have let out an awful "holler" when he had to o. k. bills for twice that much, with the end of the film by no means in sight. That's when Powers forget how to laugh, and Von wore a cloudy look when he emerged from the conference. Activities ceased, but have been resumed.

"Hiver's End," which Famous Players made several years ago, is to be filmed again under the direction of Lewis Stone and Marshall Neilan. Stone will probably play his old role in the new picture.

Greta Nissen has changed her mind again. Some time ago she announced she was through with pictures and was returning to the stage. Now she says she's in pictures to stay and will leave for the coast shortly to appear in Adolphe Menjou's next starring picture.

During the recent world's series, William Haines, football hero of "Brown of Harvard," appeared in uniform at the Yankee stadium and warmed up with the regular players. All this for ball game scenes in "Slide, Kelly, Slide," now being filmed at the M-G-M studios.

"Barbed Wire," based on Hall Caine's "The Woman of Knockaloe," is to be Pola Negri's next production. It is a story of the late war.

Tom Moore is playing opposite Laura LaPlante in "Beware of Widows" for Universal.

Florence Vidor will soon return from Hollywood to New York to make "Face to Face," her next starring picture.

Movie extras have been known to grumble at the inconspicuous parts that often make it difficult to distinguish them from the scenery, but for total obliteration, John Clark, now working in Luther Reed's picture, "New York," at the Paramount studio, holds the record. Clark plays the part of a shadow—a literal shadow of himself. Seated behind a stained glass partition with a light focused against him, Clark partakes of his beer in silhouette as part of the barroom atmosphere of the Bowery sequence of the picture. As an expert stonecutter, Clark, in his early days, created silhouettes of a more substantial sort, many of the marble decorations on the New York state capitol building at Albany being the product of his handiwork.

Cuss words are holding up the final O. K. of the Fox film officials on the print of "What Price Glory?" The characters cannot be robbed of the expletives put in their mouths by Messrs. Stallings and Anderson, but when these same expletives appear in type they appear twice as bold as the spoken or pantomimic word.

Those who have lived with the production since work started on it in February find themselves too inured to give an unbiased opinion. Consequently the print is being shown to others who can act as impartial censors of the explosive language.

GLORIA SWANSON BOOKED AT MARION

Among local motion picture showings next week the Marion will offer for the first half of the week, "Fine Manners," Gloria Swanson's latest picture. Eugene O'Brien, Helen Dunbar, Walter Goss and John Miltern are in the cast. The story is of the chorus girl who tried to adopt "Fine Manners."

For the last three days of the week Douglas MacLean will be seen in "Hold That Lion," a comedy romance. Walter Hiers, Constance Howard, Cyril Chadwick and George C. Pearce are in the cast.

BOYS CONTINUE DESTRUCTION OF PROPERTY HERE

Reports of Hallowe'en Vandalism Reach Police; Store Showcase Demolished

Premature celebration of Hallowe'en [illegible] was started more than a week [illegible] Marion youngsters, and which [illegible] resulted in the destruction or damage of considerable property, is still in progress, according to reports coming in [illegible] to police headquarters. A warning that there would be arrests and [illegible] an example would be made of city offenders caught in acts of vandalism was issued by Chief of Police Thompson last week but has apparently gone unheeded. Fewer reports of depredations were received for several nights following issuance of the warning but [illegible] week the vandalism has been resumed on an increasing scale, the chief states.

The most serious damage reported [illegible]

Shrubbery Destroyed

[illegible] largely of [illegible] ery and porch [illegible] Numerous complaints have been received about boys hurling stones at homes and automobiles.

It is impossible for the police department to maintain a patrol in the residence districts, Chief Thompson states, and he urges that citizens generally cooperate in stopping the vandalism. Parents in particular are urged to control the behavior of their children and are warned that if any are apprehended in destructive Hallowe'en activities severe penalties will be imposed.

Officers have responded to numerous calls from various sections of the city where boys were causing trouble but the offenders have managed to escape in every instance.

A STORY from India, authenticated by clergymen and others, outdates the Romulus and Remus legend. Two little girls were found in a wolf den, playing with young wolves. They fought with their teeth when rescuers tried to put clothes on them. One died; the other is gradually learning to play with dogs, not with children. Thus we should all be but for identical knowledge and maternal care.

Submits Quietly

At Court and Main sts. she met Howard Gurney, of No. 85 Walnut st, who ran with her to the police station.

Meantime, Stoddard had gone into the other bedroom and with two strokes of the ax had disposed of his other two daughters. Mildred, her head almost severed, was killed instantly. In her arms she clasped in death her treasured doll.

Police arriving on the run, found the neighborhood in confusion, having been awakened by Marion's screams. The officers went to the Stoddard apartment. In the kitchen they found Stoddard, standing apparently in a daze, the bloody ax still in his hand. He submitted to arrest quietly and was handcuffed.

City Physician A. F. Peterson believed he detected signs of life in Florence and Edna and ordered them taken to Brockton City Hospital.

Florence was dead on arrival and Edna died a few minutes later.

Once Was Detained

The police said that Stoddard about two weeks ago, started a drinking spree and lost his job. He stopped drinking on Monday, the police alleged.

Stoddard was lodged in the padded cell. Alienists will examine him. He appeared to be in a coma.

Stoddard was in Brockton District Court last June charged with neglecting his children. His wife died a year ago last August.

In 1916, Stoddard was detained for observation as to his mental condition.

Central Junior High School Students Send Clothes and Books to Kentucky Pupils

Charitable Act Has Outgrowth from Recent Visit of Miss Hazel Hochstetter, Teacher, to School District District in Greenwood, Ky.

That a number of Central Junior High School students at the suggestion of their teacher, Miss Hazel Hochstetter, have indulged in a form of charity already the year was learned today. The students sent boxes of clothing, books and toys to the poverty-stricken section of Kentucky.

Miss Hochstetter, teacher in the building had visited in Greenwood, Ky., recently and made the acquaintance of a Miss Harriette Simpson, who was teaching school in an especially poor district. Upon her return Miss Hochstetter made the suggestion and before many weeks boxes of suitable clothing and a number of text books had been collected and sent to Miss Simpson.

Miss Hochstetter tells interesting facts concerning the people in that district as related to her by Miss Simpson. The children had known only the pictures in casual textbooks before the arrival of Miss Simpson, such luxuries as newspapers, magazines having been unknown.

Receives Letter

Miss Hochstetter recently received a letter of appreciation for the gifts which began with the words, "You can never realize the help your box of books is going to be to me." Miss Simpson told how most of the children [illegible] and in reading that very few of them were able to read or write.

"The pictures and the articles had done the children more good than we were going to be a new outlook on life. They never ceased to marvel that people could and would even think of us, and in their hearts to be so kind.

MANY BENEFITED

Marion, Perry, Oct. 23—Fifty-nine widows and 119 former children benefited financially this year from the Ohio workmen's compensation law in the 78 death claims investigated by the Marion Perry branch office of the commission, Manager John L. Jenkins said today. It has purchased 16 homes for families of men killed while at work, mostly in mines, and arranged to send seven injured workers of foreign birth to their native lands. New— and more than ever before
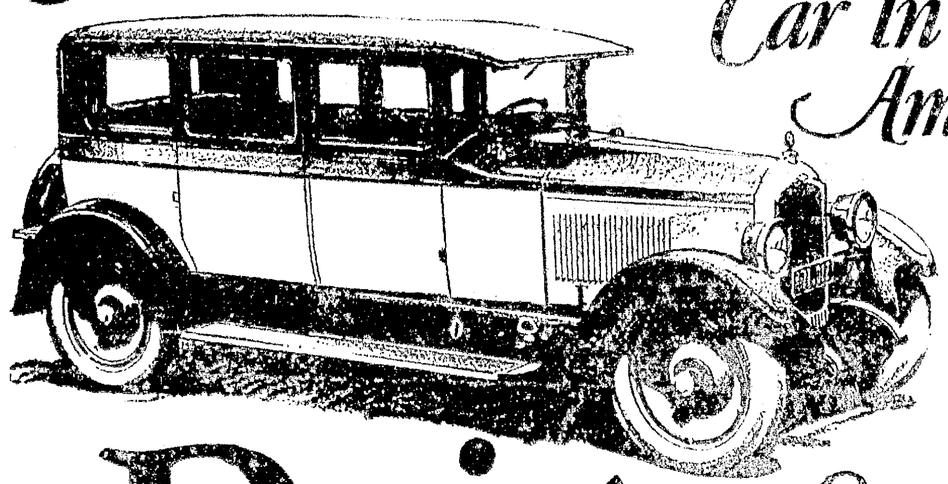
The Most Beautiful Car In America



the Paige Sedan
Model 6-75

Of all the new Paige cars, this luxurious 4-door sedan is one of the largest and finest. Its smart new body is mounted on the most powerful Paige chassis built. It is powered with a larger, and even more capable motor. It is speedier, more comfortable, and easier handled.

The charming interior of this sedan cannot fail to elicit highest praise from those who have always been accustomed to the luxury and exclusiveness of custom-built cars. Every minor detail, every new appointment and convenience, every line and curve blend into a harmonizing whole that is both luxurious and in perfect taste.

Mohair upholstery over nested springs, with arm rests and silken toggle grips, provide a newer and finer comfort. Skillfully inlaid walnut-finish panels; twin smoking sets; instruments in a single cluster; indirectly lighted; plate glass windows in curved frames that are finished in contrasting colors, appropriately striped; solid walnut steering wheel—these are but a few of its many charming appointments.

We want you to see this style car soon. A demonstration—with you at the wheel—will gladly be arranged without obligation.

Paige Model—6-65 prices are: Landau Brougham $1395; Sedan $1540. Model—6-75: Sedan for five $1695; Sedan for seven $1995; Cabriolet Roadster $1995; Coupe $1995; Limousine $2245. Jewett prices: Brougham $1195; 4-door Sedan $1295. All Paige and Jewett prices are f. o. b. Detroit. Tax extra.

Fascinating Mary Garden Thinner and More Beautiful

Characterizes Gene Tunney as "Angel;" Says Rogers Is Great Big Baby

NEW YORK, Oct. 22—Fascinating Mary Garden returned yesterday from her annual summer pilgrimage to her Italian villa Beaulieu.

She appeared thinner, more vivacious and more beautiful than ever. The sun baths, taken daily without benefit of attire, had done their wondrous work and had left Mary with an ambition. To-

"When I retire," she said, "I want to go to a little farm on top of a mile-high mountain, so far away that none can come up to bother me.

"Then I want to eat and drink and sleep as much and as often as it suits me. I like to do them all, but now I diet."

Other verbal jewels dropped by the star included the characterization of Gene Tunney as an "angel" and the frank admission she would love to be engaged to him.

"Gene was certain to win from Jack Dempsey," she said, recalling that last year she had given him a medallion of the Virgin, and that he had worn it as he felt the night of the fight.

There was a flurry when Mary for a time was unable to find a similar medallion of her own. She had the stewards looking for it all over the Aquitania and was relieved when it was found under a divan.

The talk turned somehow to Will Rogers.

"He's just a great big baby," she said. "I kissed him in Paris and he was like a bashful child in his mother's arms.

The singer believes in bobbed hair.

"Any woman is a fool," she said, inserting an adjective before "fool", who does not bob her hair."

Mary was dressed in a sea green jersey dress of princess design which came four inches below her knees. A sable coat, a black felt hat with green feathers; black suede sandals and sand-colored stockings.

Her weight was announced as 118 pounds. "Little breakfast, a good lunch, no dinner and lots of swimming and diving," is Mary's version of the right way to reduce.

Daily Proverb—"Good fortune ever lights on the side of prudence."

We'll have to concede the bravery of Marie. Chicago is on her itinerary.

Mussolini has banned long-winded speeches Maybe a dictator, after all, is what we need most over here for what's ailing us.

We were impressed by Lady Nancy Astor's recent statement over here, that "religion isn't gloomy; it's something to cheer us and make us more content." And then along came Dean Inge.

As the result of injuries suffered while out on a geology trip, a star player of the Princeton squad was unable to be in the line-up against the Navy eleven. Thus we have another illustration of the folly of letting merely incidental matters interfere with the great cause of education.

The fight between two Columbia instructors, which resulted in the terrible beating of one and the holding of the other under a $10,000 bond pending the result of his victim's hurts, is attributed to drink, which offers another sidelight on education.

The New York woman life guard, Lotty Moore Schoemmell, by swimming the 150¼ miles from Albany to New York in fifty-seven hours and eleven minutes, not only beat Mrs. Corson's time by six hours and twenty-four minutes and her own former record by five hours and thirty minutes, but also afforded Mayor Walker another opportunity to extend a welcome and pose for the movies, thereby making possible another world record.

The Fury of the Elements.

While the horror of the Cuban hurricane does not come so close home to us as did that of the preceding West Indian hurricane which swept a path across Florida and a portion of our Gulf coast, its frightful toll of 600 dead, 1,000 injured, 7,000 homeless and a property loss of approximately $75,000,000 is almost too awful for contemplation. If the figures given out Friday are essentially correct, it has caused even a greater life loss and injury than the one which will go down in history as the Florida storm of 1926.

Save in the matter of property loss, this week's storm is almost the duplicate of the terrific disturbance which swept Cuba a score of years since, mention of which was made last Tuesday on this page under the heading, "Twenty Years Ago." The property loss in that storm was but $4,000,000, but the dead, injured and homeless were practically the same.

The Cuban hurricane of twenty years ago, like many which have sprung up in the West Indies before and since, is ample proof that such storms as we have suffered this year are not the developments of recent years. As we remarked following the Florida storm, there have been in the past many storms of far greater intensity and storms attended by such life loss as to make that of any this year seem almost trifling. But we can not recall, nor do any storm record which is being maintained show when so many great storms have been experienced in one year or in so many parts of the world.

South America has experienced a number of storms of unusual intensity, each causing great life and property loss. Asia has experienced a number. The British isles have suffered one storm and many rains resulting in floods. Different European lands have been swept by terrific storms this year, and long-continued rains which have caused repeated floods. Even Australia has not escaped, and here in the northern half of the New world we have had hurricane after hurricane, the last two exceeding in violence any in recent years, while the floods in the United States have surpassed in area covered any we have suffered in decades.

The scientists may be altogether wrong in their contention that there is a close relation between sun-spots and terrestrial storms of unusual force and destructiveness, but the fact that the greatest number of such storms ever recorded came in a year marked by the largest and greatest number of sun-spots ever observed rather goes to prove the merit of the scientific contention.

And conceding this, one can not look ahead, in the face of the statement of the scientists that the sun-spot maximum will not be reached till next year—a view which is held by practically all engaged in this line of scientific research—without forebodings of what may be ahead of us in the way of storms when 1927 comes around and the maximum of disturbances on the face of the sun is reached.

While it is true that certain conditions produce certain results, there is always a chance that exceptional conditions may arise to influence these results. It may be that there have been exceptional conditions which added to the fury of the elements and caused an exceptional number of atmospheric disturbances this year which may not develop next and that, thought the sun-spot maximum will come next year, the consequent terrestrial disturbances will not be so many or so marked next year as they have been this. In any event, let us take comfort in this possibility, this hope.

The Logical Candidate.

Political campaigns never become what you would call hot until they get close to voting time. The present one seems now to be warming up, not in the matter of bitter attacks, but in the public's interest in the candidates. The whole thing so far has been very pleasingly decent. There have been no personal jibes of any sort. Mr. Donahey goes about talking of what he has done, Mr. Cooper of what he expects to do, and that certainly is fair enough.

The Republican candidate, who comes right out of the world of business rather than politics, has made some rather interesting statements. It has been stated as fact and public records were used as the source of the information—that the state of Ohio has consumed enough gasolene in a twelve-month period to travel 3,000,000 miles. We own more automobiles, many of them pleasure cars than any state in the union. If that charge is true, Mr. Donahey should receive only the votes of those families for which he has provided Emousines and gasolene. If it isn't true, the governor should leave not the slightest shadow of doubt about its falsity.

Politics, at its very best, is one of the greatest evils of the greatest nation on earth. It may be a necessary evil, but we doubt very much if it need to be so terribly evil. Imagine taxpayers throughout the entire state, scraping together hard earned money to pay their fair share of the cost of government without the hope of owning an automobile—and there are some left who do not have them. If pleasure cars are bought out of state funds for political job-holders then we certainly have had enough of machine politics.

Cooper looks like a new deal in state affairs. He has never been in politics, has never been a candidate before, and promises real business methods in managing the business of the state. Undoubtedly he is a capable man who has been successful, is thoroughly respected and is a solid, Christian citizen. That pretty well describes the kind of governor we ought to have.

The Marion Star, entirely independent in any political pronunciamento, has no fear in recommending Myers Cooper as the most logical gubernatorial choice on the ground that the state of Ohio needs a capable executive, schooled in the wide world of business affairs. Governor Donahey has certainly had no mistreatment in these columns. If he is reelected, he may expect none. Praise and criticism will be unstinted according to the fairest possible analysis of his official conduct and methods. But, frankly, we believe the best interests of the state will be served by the election of Myers Cooper at the polls a week from Tuesday because, for one thing, we are sorely tired of politics, and we strongly urge the adoption of strict, honest, dollar-for-dollar business dealing in transacting the tremendously important affairs of Ohio. Let us, for a change, elect a governor on a pure platform of a common-sense business administration, and then insist that he adhere to it strictly.

The really unfortunate phase of the chestnut blight is that it is killing off the wrong kind.

Commanding the "devil dogs" who guard the mails in the West will probably come as a relief to Smedley D. Butler after his experiences in the City of Brotherly Love and Golden Gate social circles.

State prisons may have been turned into pleasure resorts, as has been claimed, but it's manifest that they aren't playing to anything like the crowds they should.

The elderly Mr. Browning says he gave the mother of "Peaches" $200 each month for pin money, which is bound to incline the average husband to view any unkind fate which may befall him as nothing more than retribution.

The full moon of October is known as the hunter's moon, but the only hunters taking advantage of its wonderfully beautiful light this week in this neck of the woods, seemingly, are those out gunning for votes.

Somebody should give the soviet envoy over in London, who says Russia is ready to acknowledge the debt she owes this country, a gentle hint that we would be glad to give her a liberal discount for cash.

We assume that Queen Marie took the two-day lay-off from intensive activities before starting out on her transcontinental tour to go through her fifty trunks to discover the absolutely necessary things she forgot and left at home.

With Florida threatened by another hurricane one day and the Pacific coast experiencing another earthquake the next, the rival winter resorts appear to be running neck and neck.

The Marconi beam wireless system, by which rays are directed in a limited path rather than radiated in all directions has been successfully inaugurated between London and Montreal, giving practically perfect service at a speed of from 150 to 200 words a minute. Fast enough for any man.

It's a rather significant fact that the banking interests which favor cancellation of the debts European nations owe us also want us to revise our tariff schedules for the benefit of the outside world.

Judging by the developments of the New York gubernatorial campaign, one or two of the descendants of Ananias are yet among the living.

"I was christened a Protestant and have remained one," says Queen Marie, "though my husband is a Catholic and my children Greek Catholic which is the religion of Roumania. We all, being civilized, respect each other's religion, and live in perfect harmony." If such is the test of civilization, we very gravely fear some of us over here are yet back in the stone age.

One of the annoying phases of aerial travel over the English channel is the possibility of concluding when left only half way over that maybe it would have been the course of wisdom to have taken a channel boat.

Wearing Snug Things Hurts Health.

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
United States Senator from New York.
Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

In an article on clothing I read some funny things about the absurdity of man's dress. The writer was speaking about the "dress up," the conventional attire of modern man. He said, "If we could see it for the first time, without slowly growing up with it and getting used to it, we might easily laugh ourselves to death."

The writer continued: "The only animal which is as ridiculous as a well-dressed man is an Antarctic penguin. Every man laughs when he sees a penguin, and doubtless if penguins had any brains they would laugh when they saw us."

It isn't in my line to dictate styles, but I am devoted to the health of the human family. You may select the color and the cut of the garment, but let me advise you a little about its fit and weight.

Whether a garment will do harm or not depends upon these two properties, the weights and the fit. If it is too heavy or too tight, it will injure the health. If it is tight and loose, even though the garments may look as ridiculous as a penguin, to use the figure I have quoted, it can do no harm.

The chief objection to a tight garment or accessory of dress, whether it is a hat, a corset, a belt, a garter, a skirt band, a collar or a shoe, is the effect upon the circulation. Too snug a fit means that the blood supply is cut off and the parts immediately involved are interfered with and may be permanently damaged.

The tight belt or skirt band effects the circulation in vital parts—the digestive organs, and in females the generative organs, are likely to be damaged by continued pressure.

Fortunately, the old fashioned boiler plate corset is a thing of the past. It placed such pressure on the chest, ribs, lungs and abdominal organs that actual deformity resulted.

Nature never intended that the female breasts and other vital organs should be confined as they used to be. We have advanced in this respect at least.

When I see a bald man I know he has worn the wrong kind of hat. All the blood that supplies the scalp comes through the blood vessels which run from below and spread over the scalp in a network. If a heavy hat with a tight sweat band is crowded down on the head it is sure to cut off the free flow of blood to the hair and scalp. Baldness is inevitable.

Tight stockings and tight shoes cause corns, bunions and painful feet; frost bite and chilblains in winter months are the effects of cold on feet having poor circulation.

Many a headache, red nose and inflamed eye is the natural result of impaired circulation through the head and brain. A terribly tight collar or necktband must reduce the amount of blood going to the head and interfere with the return of the venous blood. The parts supplied with blood are sure to be unpleasantly affected.

Weight has almost the same action on the body as tightness. The garments may bear down on the parts in such manner as to reduce the flow of blood. In addition, such clothing is so hot as to increase the action of the sweat glands. It causes moisture of the garments and you may take cold in consequence.

Tight and heavy garments are to be avoided unless they are selected with proper regard to the welfare of the body. No matter how they look, no matter how ridiculous you may appear, no harm will result if you pay due regard to fit and weight.

ANSWERS TO HEALTH QUERIES

N. Y. Z. Q—How much should a girl twenty years of age, five feet three inches tall, weigh?
2—Is running and walking rapidly good exercise?
3—Does lemon juice and peroxide bleach freckles?
A—She should weigh about 122 pounds.
2—Yes.
3—Will help.

Vagrant Verse.

SENTINEL.

So, sentinel, you halt me here. . . .
At this bright station I have not
The password?
So let it be, stern sentinel.
On some tomorrow I shall go
An undisputed way
Out by another door.
On that tomorrow I shall be
Out on new hills,
Swimming new channels of the sun.
Tomorrow I shall fling aside this cloak and take
A brighter one;
Tomorrow I shall take for scarf
The seven shimmering veils of dawn
And out of mute despair
Fashion brave sandals for new journeying.
The morrow calls. Can you not hear its trumpeting?
But no, sentinel, how should you unedger hear
The flutes of dawn, who stand tree-rooted here?
How should you thrist and hunger for the wine and bread
Of great tomorrow?
Today the magic word eludes me;
Today I stand
Obedient at your signaling,
Tomorrow I shall fold the treasurable yesterdays
Deep in my knapsack of remembering.
. . . . . .
Now are we met again,
Stern sentinel, upon a farther road.
But there again a thousand trumpets blow
Across the folded range of hills beyond these hills.
Fool! To think you could detain me here—
'Tis I who challenge you upon the sunrise road.
Do you not know the faces of the messengers—
The bearers of the song across the worlds?
Take then this password. . . . Out I swing
Upon the breast of far horizons.
No little doors wait here. . . . Only this sky,
Good sentinel. . . . Only this sky! . . .

Today's Worst Story.

BY WILL ROGERS

Nobody ever shaved me as good as a barber does, and so I got nothing against barbers. Most of the talk about barbers talking too much to their customers is just so much talk. It's been ten years since I heard a barber talk too much, and that one was just a little bit talkative because he'd had a little something to celebrate his wedding anniversary. But they like to tell about barbers that talk.

One guy I heard about went to a certain barber for a long time, and then he heard so much about the ball games and the prize fights that he didn't go any more. When a friend asked him what was the matter that he wasn't seen in that shop any more, he says: "Why, I go to my dentist now."

"Dentist? But he can't shave you, can he?"

"I don't know nothing about that," he says, "but I know darn well that he gives me gas before he starts, and I don't have to listen to no baseball talk." —Copyright, 1926.

Q. Can a sail boat sail faster than the wind? E. H. S.

A. The Rudder says that a sailing boat can not sail faster than the wind which is blowing directly from astern. In fact, the speed of the boat will be less than that of the wind. When the boat is sailing across the direction of the moving air the conditions are changed and it is quite possible for a light, racing boat to sail much faster than the wind which is blowing at right angles, or approximately so, to her course. The relative speed of wind and boat depends upon the design and handling of the craft but theoretically a racing yacht sailing with the wind blowing just a little ahead of a point directly aneam can sail at a speed of several times the velocity of the wind. In actual practice boats sometimes sail under such conditions about fifty per cent. faster than the breeze. Iceboats have been known to sail twice as fast as the wind.

The Way of the World.

BY GROVE PATTERSON.

Between 150,000 and 175,000 candidates will be voted on at the election November 2 over this country. What a tremendous responsibility is to be put by the voters of America! Think of putting more than 150,000 men and women in office to run the affairs of this democracy—and taking a little interest in the whole business as we do!

Out of our total population of 117,000,000, somewhat less than 70,000,000 are qualified by age and residence to vote. Of that number the sad fact is that about two out of five will make the sacrifice necessary to get to the polls. Statisticians have it figured that about one eighth of the people decide the policies of the United States—and some of the one-eighth get badly left because the men they elect do not always faithfully serve their constituents.

Democracy may not be discouraging. But it is disappointing.

The Knights of Khorassan, an order of the Knights of Pythias, is to be commended for its idea about the best way to spend money. Sixty thousand dollars is appropriated as the nucleus of a fund to be used in educating the children of members of the order. Gradually it is dawning on people who think, if any, that education is the great quality which too many of us lack. Our faults in government and in private affairs are usually the faults of ignorance. Funds set up for education are better than funds to buy food and clothes. The hungry, unsheltered body—tragical enough—is a trivial thing compared with the mind that has no place to turn.

Bored because she had nothing to do, a New York girl began to draw crazy looking pictures just caricatures. She discovered she could do something most people could not do. Somebody else discovered she was an artist. Fame came as the result of an idle moment, as the result of doing something in spare time.

If you will plant something in the hours you waste those hours may yield a surprisingly heavy harvest.

Every newspaper man who knows his business knows that advertising is the most interesting thing in the paper. He knows more people read advertising than read any other one department. Romance, adventure, imagination and the play of imagination are all stirred and stimulated by advertising.

Why are people living so much better today than they did a few years ago? Why do we all have so many more things than we used to have? Advertising is the answer. Advertising has created new wants and advertising has filled them.

Speaking before a district convention of the International Advertising association the other day, Harold Younggreen, of Milwaukee, said:

"Newspaper readers are interested in advertisements as well as news. Newspapers that have tried to give readers news without advertising have lost circulation. Advertising makes interesting reading.

"The consumer should be stressed as an objective in advertising for the consumer reaps the greatest benefit."

New York Day by Day.

BY O. O. McINTYRE.

New York, Oct. 23 — Broadway after the theater has become a colorful bazaar. Due to traffic congestion most theater goers walk out of the district to their cars and the street swarms with edge hats, gleaming white shirts, furred shoulders and blazing head-dress.

There are almost as many beggars as those strewn along the Appian way. They are thickest around the canopies of those theaters where sentimental drama has been unfolded. They realize softened hearts may have been carried out into the night.

It is the busiest hour of a busy day for those little trinket shops where almost the entire stock is displayed in dazzling windows. The gaudy soft drink stands that bloom in temporary cavities are swamped with trade. So are souvenir shops.

Instead of rushing off to cafes New York is going shopping and this is largely responsible for store rooms being sliced into cubicles for perfume parlors, jewelry, gloves, rhinestones and other glittering baubles. They thrive on after theater trade.

Pianos thump in song sheet shops. Impudent barkers stand in front of haberdasheries. Window demonstrators display virtues of coiled wire sleeve garters, adjustable cravats, self-filling pens and pipe cleaners.

And brisk sidewalk salesmen have their lure hawking wrist watches, combination manicure sets, grotesque mechanical toys, rubber ducks that quack and pigs that grunt. They work hurriedly and indulgent police usually leave them alone.

Thousands of dollars exchange hand in this brief period of hurry-up bargaining. Nose to fingers. Patrons pop in and out in the scuttling manner of the gopher.

A rather startling illustration of the high rental for tiny Broadway shops is revealed by George Rector. His father paid a yearly rental of $12,000 for the entire building at Forty-Fourth street and Broadway which housed Rector's cafe. That fifteen years ago was a rent record on Broadway. Today a twelve-by-six soft-drink stand, almost lost among the many shops in the building, pays an annual rental of $25,000.

In the screaming red-inked headlines of the Valentino passing and the Ederle arrival New York lost sight of the passing of a man who sent the impress of his genius around the world and not without a little amusement. His slogans flashed in lights on Montmarte hill near Sacre Coeur, in Kioti, Bombay and Capri. He was Milton Feasley, a young man in his early thirties from Poland, who had a burning desire to write a romantic novel and made several thousand a week writing halitosis ads.

The manner in which patent medicine quakery flourished in the nineties is illustrated by the recent passing also of a man who made a fortune selling "memory tablets" by mail. His expansive offices were on lower Fifth avenue and he appealed to the yokelry with two-inch ads. headed: "Be Brilliant and Eminent!" The memory restorative tablets sold for one dollar a packet and were reputed to increase the memory "tenfold." Out of this hocus pocus was a fortune built.

Who's Who and Why.

SENATOR CHARLES CURTIS.

Since 1884 Charles Curtis has been a prominent figure in the political life of Kansas. At that time, three years after he was admitted to the bar, Shawnee county made him its attorney.

He served in that capacity for four years, then returned to private practice until 1892, when he became a member of the United States congress. From then until 1907 he served continuously in that body. In 1907 he was elected to the senate and his constituents have returned him each succeeding election to the present time with the exception of the period from 1913 to 1915. He was president pro tempore of the senate in 1911 and 1912 of the United States senate from 1911 to 1913, and from 1915 to 1924, at which time he was elected Republican leader. He is the first Republican of the West to be selected leader of his party in the senate, and at the time he was elected leader, he held a greater number of important committee assignments than any other senator has ever held. He was chairman of the joint inaugural committee of the house and senate which had charge of the inaugural ceremony of President Coolidge March 4, 1925. He is now member of the committee of appropriations, also member of the committee on finance, and is chairman of the committee on rules.

Senator Curtis was born at North Topeka, Kansas, in 1860.

COLORADO SEES CHIEF INTEREST IN U. S. SENATE

Old Party Platforms in State Oampaign Fail To Excite People

Denver, Colo., Oct. 23—With the publication as required by law of the platforms upon which candidates of Democratic and Republican parties will run for office, the political pot in Colorado has begun to perk up.

It's doubtful if the voters pay much attention to the verbose and long sounding declarations in these statements of policy and promises.

This year, there was a remarkable unanimity in the documents. Each is dry. Each denounces seizure of state school lands by Uncle Sam. Each demands protection of the state's water rights. Each urges relief through cooperative marketing and other measures for the poor farmer.

Republican Planks

The Republican platform fails to make the usual commendatory references to Gov. Morley's Republican state administration. The Democrats refer to this omission, which is taken as a slap by anti-Klan Republicans at Gov. C. J. Morley.

The real interest in the campaign lies, as not unusual, in the United States senatorial race. For the two major parties are matched in the strongest fight in years between Senator Wm. H. Sweet, Democrat, former governor, and Rice W. Means, Republican, who is also a former governor.

Wm. H. Sweet, Democrat, former governor, is a rich man, a bond broker, who stands to very progressive policies. He is apparently without any fear of the consequences, as he demonstrated during his term of governor, when he achieved many of his pet reforms, despite the fact that he had opposed to him a Republican legislature.

Republicans and even some in his own party class Sweet as a radical, a socialist. His father, Channing, has run for several offices on the Socialist ticket. Sweet is strong on farm relief, and has the satisfaction of seeing Republicans adopt this year his original plan of cooperative marketing.

Candidate Wealthy

Charles W. Waterman, the Republican senatorial contender, is the very antithesis of Sweet in all respects save that he also is a rich man. Waterman's occupation is that of lawyer, wherein he has prospered as general counsel for the Great Western Sugar Company.

He is known as rather reserved, a very kids his enemies call him. He is a close friend of President Coolidge, a boyhood chum in Vermont in fact. His policies are ultra-conservative, his chief battle cry one of high tariff protection for the state's sugar beet industry. In 1924, he managed Coolidge's Colorado campaign. He is making a strong bid for farm support, which Sweet claims as his by right of past performance in the behalf of agriculture.

The race for governor is exciting in the closing stages. The opponents here are William H. "Billy" Adams, for forty years a Democratic state senator from Alamosa, conceded to be the greatest parliamentarian in Colorado, and by virtue of this qualification having been one of the most powerful men in state government, though usually in the minority party.

Billy if elected will be Colorado's first cowboy governor. He opened his campaign by rounding up 4,000 cattle and personally branding the calves.

Oliver H. Shoup, Colorado Springs millionaire, is the Republican standard bearer. He was twice before governor, is conservative, but is opposed bitterly by organized labor because of his actions in suppressing strikes in the coal fields, which resulted in loss of life.

Notable in both state slates is the almost absolute exclusion of candidates who two years ago were operating under the aegis of the Ku Klux Klan.

The names of eight women will appear on the November 2 ballot. Five women are seeking election as representatives in the state legislature from Denver county—three Republicans and two Democrats; two women are candidates for superintendent of public instruction—a Republican, Katherine L. Craig, and the Democratic incumbent, Mary C. C. Bradford. In Las Animas county, in southern Colorado, the Democrats have nominated a woman as their candidate for the lower house of the legislature.

Two women congressional candidates lost their fight in the state primary.

Marion Star's Annual Affair Closes in Auditorium; Declared Success

Planning of meals was discussed by Mrs. George O. Thurn at the closing session of the Marion Star's fourday cooking school Friday afternoon in the Star Auditorium. An interesting talk on safe ways to reduce was a part of Mrs. Thurn's talk and she also gave a number of dainty recipes for those who wish to lose in weight. The auditorium was well filled with adults and 70 children were cared for in the nursery.

"It usually takes two or three years for us to realize that we are getting too heavy," Mrs. Thurn said. "The only way to successfully reduce is to do it slowly, say from one to two pounds a week.

Three Purposes

"The body needs food for three purposes: first to build new bone, second to supply energy, third to regulate the process of digestion. The foods that are best equipped to do this work are shown in the following table:

These build bone and tissue: Proteins—eggs, milk, cheese, meat, fish, gelatin, poultry, legumes (peas, beans and lentils) nuts.

Minerals—Fruit, vegetables, meats, milk, eggs, cereals.

To supply energy: Fats—Oils, cream and butter, nuts, fatty meats, bacon, sausage, etc.

Carbonhydrates (starches and sugars.) Cereal foods, breakfast cereal; rice, hominy, macaroni, potatoes; sweets, sugars, candy, sweet desserts, molasses, syrups, honey.

These regulate your body's processes: Roughage—Coarse breads and cereals, vegetables, fruits, nuts.

Mineral matter—Fruits, vegetables, meats, milk, eggs.

Vitamine—Milk and eggs, cooked leafy vegetables, (chard, spinach, beet tops, etc.) Plenty of water, raw vegetables, (celery, tomatoes, cabbage, etc.) fruits.

Mrs. Thurn urged the women to plan their meals with a food from each of these classifications at least once a day.

Recipes for the demonstration follow:

Egg Croquettes

3 hard boiled eggs.
1 tablespoonful shortening.
2 tablespoonfus flour,
1 teaspoonful salt.
½ pint cream.
1 teaspoonful grated onion.
1 tablespoonful finely grated parsley.

Chop eggs. Make white sauce of shortening, flour and cream. Season the eggs with salt, parsley and onion. Add to the sauce and cool. Form into croquettes. Dip in egg and cracker crumbs and fry in deep fat. Serve on a platter surrounded with buttered peas. This recipe makes five croquettes.

National Red Cross Worker Lauds Local Chapter Woman

Paying tribute to the local chapter of the American Red Cross and to Mrs. Loring K. Warner, volunteer nutrition worker, Miss Clyde B. Schuman, national nutrition director of the Red Cross, addressed a representative group of men and women in the library hall last night.

Miss Schuman declared that the Marion County chapter of Red Cross was the only chapter in the state of Ohio that was carrying on nutrition work within the chapter itself.

"Other chapters in Ohio have delved into the work," she said, "but none have taken it up on the scale the Marion chapter is sponsoring."

That Marion had set an excellent example in the state in the important division of health work is evinced by the number of chapter following it lead, Miss Schuman declared.

For the benefit of those interested in the technical detail of nutrition work Miss Schuman traced the advance of the work in other states and the methods of promotion now in vogue.

She urged that a full time instructor in nutrition be added to the staff of the Red Cross, but no action was taken.

Mrs. Warner, who is a volunteer worker, has achieved remarkable success in her test of nutrition work. Silver street school was used as a test school last year and the results were more than gratifying, officials say.

MARION CLUB WOMEN TO ATTEND MEETING

Central District of Ohio Federation To Hold Conference in Delaware

A large number of Marion club women are planning to attend the annual conference of the Central District of the Ohio Federation of Women's Clubs at which members of the federate clubs of Delaware will be hostesses next Thursday and Friday at Delaware. An interesting program of talks by state officers has been arranged and plans also have been made for a delightful social event and musical. At the close of the conference Friday afternoon members are invited to motor to Marysville where they will be entertained at the state reformatory for women. Members of unfederated clubs are invited to attend the conference.

Among the state officers in attendance will be Dr. Josephine L. Pierce, Lima, state president; Mrs. Cornelius Selover, Cleveland, and Mrs. Prentiss Rood, Toledo, past presidents; Mrs. W. N. Harder, Marion, state vice president at large; Mrs. Edith McClure Patterson, Dayton, Mrs. Wilbur Milar, Akron and Mrs. Robert C. Morris of Toledo. A talk also will be given by Mrs. Louise M. Mittendorf, matron of the Women's Reformatory at Marysville. Mrs. Morris will be the speaker at the banquet Thursday night at Austin Hall for all delegates and guests while the musical and lecture will be held at Sanborn Hall. The musical program will be presented under the auspices of Ohio Wesleyan University and Dean Smyser of the University will address the conference. A reception for former Delaware students will feature the Thursday afternoon program.

Hank, What Next?
Flavored Mucilage
Cooking Revival

BY EDNA DUTTON

If one is to go out to the zoo of the time and one Hen Ford we are going to have a mighty jolly time in the next few years. Hank, with his finger on the pulse of a nation of folk with a brooding complex has beaten old father time to the wire and voted home some 100 seafaring vessels which have been capering a season of buccaneer idleness at the expense of our dear Uncle Sam.

Now what Henry proposed to do we well know, and there is not the slightest question but that next year those of us that can dig up the last payment will be swishing in and fro in a rollicking land going craft and remodeled from these dignified products of master craftsmanship, and the Marion County farmer's tractor will spin merrily through the spring plowing with shiny wheels beaten out of the hulls and ribs of these one time pride of the ocean.

• • •

ANOTHER thing I heard hinted, or perhaps not suggested was to flavor the stickums on the postage stamps. Imagine walking up to the window and asking for a dime's worth of strawberry stamps and what a good time we will have going back the next day and changing them for three raspberry and two lemon flavored ones.

Somebody else comes forth with the positive statement that we are on the threshold of an era of new sentiment in our beloved nation. We are through with green hats or hats of any other color for that matter and will without doubt renew with gusto our old acquaintance with sentimental Dickens.

WELL, I do think a lot of women in Marion really did have a good time this week when they attended the cooking school conducted by Mrs. George O. Thurn. Of course the rest of the family got in on it for I am sure no one with eyes to see and ears to hear could attend the school and not try out some of her recipes, just to see if they were as good as they looked. I happen to know that they were.

I think the way one woman expressed herself just described the school to a hair. She said it was a like a revival meeting. You went home and thought of the things you did do and the things you did not do and before you quit thinking about it you decided how it really should be done.

And what a good time the youngsters had: games, eats and just all the playmates one could ask for. Games meant a lot to one young chap but the welfare of his little sister meant more so he made a graceful get away from the nursery and when caught on the stairs informed his captor that he was going down stairs to see how his little sister was who was asleep in her buggy in the hall below. I hope he always will keep that spirit. He may never be president but he always will have friends and be able to recognize the humanness of others which in this day and age means a lot.

PYTHIAN SISTERS ARE GIVEN ENTERTAINMENT

Added Beauty In an Hour

By Edna Wallace Hopper

I use a hair dressing which great experts made especially for me. It keeps my hair in curl, gives it a sheen. I never go to a hairdresser, never have a Marcel wave. Yet everyone who sees me on the stage or off marvels at my wavy, glowing hair.

Now I have placed this dressing at every woman's call. All toilet counters supply it as Edna Wallace Hopper's Wave and Sheen. The price is 75c. My guarantee comes with each bottle. If it doesn't delight you, doesn't double the beauty of your hair at once, ask for your money back.

Go try it now. It is one of the best helps I ever found for women, especially for those with bobbed hair.

Social Activities

CHRYSANTHEMUMS in tints of yellow, lavender, pink and white arranged in a color note in rainbow shades for the one o'clock luncheon at which Mrs. D. W. Brickley and Mrs. A. F. Van Deusen presided Friday at the Country Club. One hundred and twenty-five guests were entertained at the luncheon which was one of the most charming social events of the season. Receiving with the hostesses was Mrs. E. A. Thiele of Cincinnati, guest of Mrs. Brickley. Other guests from out of the city were Mrs. E. H. Hisham of Hot Springs, Arkansas, guest of Mrs. John D. Owens, and Mrs. Paul Moore of Huntington, Ind., who is visiting her mother Mr. Julia Hoover.

Marion Pretty Enough To Go with Ziegfield, Rogers Says

BY WILL ROGERS

WELL all I know is just what I read in the papers or what I see as I tramp the width and breadth of this great commonwealth. After looking over Canada last week and reporting to you in regard to taking it under the Auspices of the United States, of course as I told you then, that's all of it.

We don't want more people in this country. What we want is to try and improve the mob we have here now. Canada couldn't help us out. They couldn't even learn us English they speak it just as bad as we do. In my little prowling around this last week I have horned into quite a few Celebrities, mostly of the Artistic breed.

McCormick's Concert

Up at Ottawa, Canada, I was in there one night, and at the opposition I had in the World was a fellow giving a concert the next night. Little John McCormack of County Limerick over on the auld sod. Well, he was good enough to come to our show, and as I wasent working the next night I went down to his, to help make up a crowd. If I hadn't gone there would have been one less standing room, so I am glad I helped him out. Some fellow had penned in the northern end of a Canadian provence built a board wall around it and called it an Auditorium. The night before when I was in there, I got a candle and just went around inside the place and told my little act personally to each one that I found.

His Personality

But do you know it's really remarkable to go to one of his Concerts and just see what one man can do to an audience. He walks out there with no orchestra, just a piano Player, and he stands there and reads his songs out of a little note book. Now he must know some of those songs by heart by this time, but he always has that little book that he holds across his chest like he was trying to balance a hot water bottle on his tummy. The reason I know he was doing it for some other reason than just to look at it was that lots of times he didn't look at it at all. He either had a cramp or he was trying to hide a soiled white vest. With John's Radiator kinder protruding, why if he did happen to have a few gravy spots on his vest it would be the first thing you would notice. So I sorter give him the benefit of the doubt and think that's why he embraces his middle all during the evening. But Boy when he sings you don't care where his hands are. You wouldn't mind if he punched you in the jaw with them if he would just keep right on singing.

McSweeney

Had a fine visit with him at the Hotel and as I had just been to Ireland and met a lot of old friends of his, Ireland got many a good wish that night even from his capable Hebrajo Manager McSweeney. McSweeney knew Ireland as well as he did his native heath of old Kishnieff. He is a great fellow to talk to, is John, just like a big old kid. He has just returned from China and Japan and he told me a good one about a very prominent Chinese he was talking to over there. They were speaking of the unsettled condition of China and John asked him if he didn't think that a Mussolini would be good for China. The stoic old Chinaman replied, "Yes, I think Mussolini would be a very good man for China." John then asked, "How long do you think it would take Mussolini to straighten out China?" The Chinaman scratched his head and thought very seriously for quite a while then answered very slow and deliberate, "Well, Mr. McCormick, I think it would take Mr. Mussolini just exactly 250 years to straighten out China."

John Talked to a prominent Chinese

A Cricket Fan

John says they run his Phonograph records so fast over in Japan that he thought it was Eddie Cantor singing John is a great Cricket Game fan over in England, and knows the batting average of every player for years and when you know the batting average of a Cricketer you have to have some memory. For I saw one in one time at the bat stay there and knock 324 runs. Babe Ruth would be the bat boy in a game like that with only three home runs. You know what has made McCormack great with his singing, it's because with all his God given voice he has never allowed himself to get High-Brow, and Artistic, with the selection of his songs. A song don't get so common that John won't sing it, if it has melody.

Yellin' 'n Screamin'

You see these others maybe with good voices come out and scream and yell in Dago or Frog lingo, to about a hand full of people that pretend they know what he is calling for. And here is McCormack who comes out and can sing in all those languages but knows enough not to. He can sing to more people in one night than these others will in a year. You not only know what he is singing about but you can understand every word he says. Just think, a man that pleases more people with his voice than any human being alive. You would think some of these others would follow his example in a small way and trade their ART for regular meals.

Well I had no more than got out of the sound of John's fast breaking Tenor voice than I land in Cincinnati and who do I have the pleasure of meeting but dear little Marion Talley. I had read so much about her that I was anxious to see her and see just what kind of a person a young Grand Opera singer was before they got old and fat and Artistic and was called "Dame". I wanted to run onto one that was going up, instead of coming down. Now Marion lives out home (or what we call home, if they discover anything worth while). She is from Kansas City; that's about two hundred miles from the outedge of Claremore, Oklahoma, another town by the way that has turned out some mighty good Singers. I can't think of any of them off hand but I have heard some singing there that I know must have turned out and went somewhere. Now I have told you about John; what about our Marion? Well her mother was with her and my wife was with me and we were going up on top of the Sinton Hotel to have some Photo's taken and they wanted to label them "Western types." Now, the best way to get the real low down on Women and Daughters is to ask your wife. While Marion and I was discussing her Opera roles of Mozart, Hans Wagner, Verdi, Rembrant, Michael Angelo, Irving Berlin and Jake Shubert, and the Stock Yards in Kansas City, and Jim Reed and the monument to show you where the new Depot is there; why Mrs. Talley and Mrs. Rogers were discussing the best way to bring up Singers and Monologue Actors. Both having had experience in this line. So when the eighty per cent and I got alone after this long conversation with the Talleys, why both of us had found out the same thing, and we agreed exactly that the Talley family had started out endowed with considerable sense as well as voice, and that in spite of Artistic Critics praise, they had been able to keep all four of their feet square on the ground. Betty said "she was a plain lively sensible Mother," and I said Marion is just like our little Mary, only she can sing better. Not louder, but better.

She's Pretty Too

Now if you have never seen this Girl and only her pictures why you have a surprise in store for you. I can place her with Zeigfeld tomorrow under an assumed name, and she won't have to sing a note. She is very pretty has no airs and is just like meeting a sweet young Girl Graduate. Her Mother told us Marion studied Typewriting and a business course. She didn't know if she would ever be able to make her voice pay. She opens November first at the Metropolitan, and is to sing in four different languages. No, I am wrong there, Italian, German and French; they don't sing in English there for fear someone will find out what they are singing about. I heard a dandy Opera in English in Milan, Italy, but that's a long way to go to get your own language. Society would never patronize it here. They wouldn't get to act like they knew what it was if it was in English. But don't miss this little 19-year-old Girl. I don't know Opera, but I know common sense when I see it, and the commoner the better I know it.

GLAD TO SPREAD GOOD NEWS

Helped by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Cleveland, Ohio.—The friends of Mrs. Helen M. Kowalczyk of 6819 Hope Avenue, were glad to hear that she has regained her health. For quite some time Mrs. Kowalczyk was quite ill and it was impossible for her to work. She took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to build her up. After she had started taking it, she wrote to the Pinkham Company as follows: "I certainly boost Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I feel stronger already and sleep sounder. I am very glad to spread the good news of how it has helped me."

"Happy to Recommend Pinkham's"

Detroit, Michigan—"I heard of this medicine through an advertisement in the 'Detroit News' and wrote to Mrs. Grace Gillem, whose letter was published. Then I started taking the Vegetable Compound and got the best results. I used the Sanative Wash, too. I am really happy if I can advise women to take your medicines."—Mrs. M. E. Roberta Risks It

BY MARGARET CAMERON

CHAPTER TWENTY-NINE

THAT night Celia lay awake, tense and quivering, through what seemed interminable hours, but at last it came. "Poco, Poco, keep those eyes . . ." Slowly, stealthily, she crept out of bed and across to the window facing the hill, unfortunately not the one left open at night. Once a board creaked under her foot and her mother's regular snore stopped. Celia crouched, holding her breath until it began again. Afraid to risk rolling up the shade, she pushed aside the net curtains and slipped between shade and window, unable with the utmost care to avoid making some noise. The torch clicked slightly as she showed her light, and four times again when she answered the flashes from the hill.

"Celia?" said a fretful voice, "What are you doing?"

"I—looking out. I couldn't sleep." Celia ducked under the window shade and stood dimly silhouetted against it.

"I thought I saw a queer light."

"It—it's moonlight." I moved the shade. I think I'll put on a bathrobe and go downstairs for a while, mother." She wanted the comfort of that answering flash again.

"You'll do nothing of the kind. Get straight into bed." Celia got into bed, tucking the torch under the mattress again. "It's hard enough for me to have to stay up here all this time because of your outrageous behavior without being kept awake all night. I don't see why you can't be like other girls. You have a good father and a good home, and you ought to appreciate them. You ought to be thankful for all he does for you. If you'd just promise not to be headstrong and silly, he'd give you everything you wanted—"

"Everything he wanted, you mean," Celia interjected but her mother went on without pause:

"—and the least you can do is show some regard for his wishes, and some gratitude. You're too young now to do everything you'd like. Your good times are coming. Your father knows what is best for you, and it's your duty—and ought to be your pleasure—to obey him. If I'd had your opportunities when I was a girl, I'd have thought I was in heaven. Nobody could be more generous than your father is when you please him, and anybody would think . . . ."

On it went and on, until Celia, out of long experience, feigned a gentle snore, whereupon the monologue abruptly ceased to flow and a real snore soon attested that Mrs. Scott slumbered again, leaving the girl free to indulge in a few ecstatic wriggles and to hug herself because at last Roberta had come. Now something would happen. She wondered what it would be—and when.

So, incidentally, did Roberta and Piggy. When he had imbibed something over a pint of cold water and the tumult in his veins had abated a little, they repaired again to the living room, built up the dying fire with logs, and sat down in its light to talk.

"Here's your chance, Bob," he remarked slyly. "Ever since we started this thing you've been insisting on a plan of campaign. The time's come when we've got to have one, so get busy."

"I thought you put your faith in direct inspiration and didn't believe in plans," she countered, dimpling.

"They're no good until you get the lay o' the land, and some idea of how the cat's likely to jump when she's turned loose. All you can do at first is to prepare for everything you can think of that could happen and then watch your chance to start something."

"And you have," she said softly. "Peter, what an idiot I was to imagine I could get Celia away alone!"

Piggy flushed to the roots of his dyed hair, but replied in the gruff tone tributes always drew from him:

"Oh well, you'd have done it somehow, if I hadn't butted in. Anyway, we haven't got her yet. It's a darn shame that Cody had to leave with G. A. Otherwise we might have established a sort of underground postal system, and maybe she could have given us some tips. But we may not be able to get any more notes to her, and unless we can, we'll just have to go blind and take a chance on her playing up."

"Haven't you any plan yourself?"

"Nary a plan. I did have a notion of holding up the car in the woods somewhere, when they had her out driving, and kidnapping her. Highwayman stuff. But that just shows you how senseless it is to waste gray matter on definite schemes, before you know what you're up against. I'll bet that poor kid hasn't been off the place since they brought her up here. So that bubble's busted. I don't see anything for it now but to apply a little moth and corruption to those dogs and break in and steal ourselves. I don't like to poison good pups, though. Gee! I wonder how one goes to balls of chopped meat would get you out of business for a while without really hurting 'em?"

"They wouldn't touch it. Father's dogs are always well trained. They won't take food from strangers."

"We might throw it over the fence and let 'em find it themselves. There's a chance that they'd eat it then. If you can think up anything better, speak now, or ever after hold your whisht. It's your move."

After a long pause Roberta bethought herself of the Achilles heel of the household at Brickwood, and indicated a possible line of action, provided some disposition could be made of the dogs. For an hour they plotted, with occasional excitement and a vast deal of giggling. Over an inspiration of Roberta's they laughed until their eyes were wet and proceedings halted while they wiped the tears away.

"Bob, you're a marvel!" Piggy testified, still gasping. "I flatter myself I'm some strategist, but I never would have thought of that in a million years! I told you your time would come!"

"Don't you think it will work?"

"Work?" It'll be a riot! Swift and sweet and simple—and so innocent! Wise as—oh, Lord—Wise as serpents and harmless as doves!" With that they doubled up again in throes of laughter.

Quicksands of Love

BY ADELE GARRISON

Pictures Hugh As Mate

FOR a few seconds I was so dazed by my father's astonishing statement that I had no words with which to answer him. That he should discuss or countenance anything so revolutionary as my separation from Dicky was beyond taking.

But amazement though almost overpowering, was dwarfed by another emotion closely akin to fear, if it were not actually entitled to that name, which swept over me as might the traditional tenth wave of the ocean surf, and left me trembling and utterly questioning.

A Blundering Explanation

Had my father any special recent knowledge of my husband's conduct which led to voice the sentiment to which I had just listened? That he had discussed my affairs with Lillian I had gleaned from his earlier remarks, and I recalled that Lillian had been strangely desirous of her demand that I get out into the world and make for myself a distinct economic niche, which should be entirely independent of Dicky. She had given as a reason for her counsel the theory that Dicky had become too much accustomed to my domesticity, and that to counteract his appreciation of Dicky Fairfax's cooperation upon a magazine, he needed the fillip of learning that I could have an absorbing professional life of my own. I knew her strong partisan feeling for me, and her knowledge of Dicky which far antedated my own. Was it possible that she had learned things which made her feel my father was speaking again, and I put aside my panicky conjectures to listen to him.

"I know how this advice of mine must startle you, Margaret," my father went on. "It is not that which I would have given you years ago. For many years I held to the old idea that no matter what crime against love and faith a husband committed, his wife must continue to wear the yoke of a legal union to him, and must never venture to find happiness in any other direction."

Like the relentless click of railroad wheels, one phrase beat upon my brain. "Crime against love and faith, crime against love and faith." What did my father know? Had Dicky?——

"She had me"

"I was even selfish enough," my father went on, "to exult in the fact that your mother lived a widow until her death, in spite of my dastardly desertion of her. Yet how much happier her life would have been if she had married some man whose devotion would have made up for my perfidy."

"She had me," I said, an old feeling rising rebelliously within me. All the years of my absence from my father I had hated him for the wrong he had done my mother, but never from my earliest childhood could I have borne the idea of her sharing the great love she gave me with any other man. Dimly, I knew that my mother had had opportunities to marry again, and from her reaction to those opportunities I had formed a theory of family life which never had left me. Roughly stated, it ran thus:

People without children have a right to deal with their marriage relation as they see fit, considering only themselves. But the happines of little children must be the issue paramount with parents. If one fails, that is no excuse for the other not to carry on.

"Yes, she had you, my darling," my father said huskily, "and a blessing indeed you were to her. But how much easier it would have been for you and her is she had had the protection of some good man who would have loved you as Hugh Grantland would care for Junior if he were given the opportunity."

REED TAKES HIS INVESTIGATION TO KANSAS CITY

Solon Declares Indiana Probe Productive of Disclosures of Vital Interest

Chicago, Oct. 23—After having aired an intimate picture of the political activities of the Ku Klux Klan in Indiana and of the Anti-Saloon League in Illinois, Senator James A. Reed, Democrat, of Missouri, returned to his home in Kansas City today to resume temporarily his veteran role of campaign orator.

The "Missouri cyclone" looked upon this week's search for use of slush funds in these two states as having been productive of disclosures of vital interest to the American people. He declared the electorate had profited by learning definitely that the Klan is an active political organization and that it boasts a powerful influence over local, state and national governments.

Reed pointed to the testimony of Senator James E. Watson, Republican, of Indiana, whom the Klan favored as a presidential candidate in 1928—that Imperial Wizard Hiram W. Evans met all senators and was always talking to senators on matters, and the admission of W. Lee Smith, Indiana grand dragon, that political reports were issued to klansmen on all candidates as definitely fixing the Klan as a political organization. He considered it significant, too, that the record included testimony showing orders were issued from the Washington headquarters of the Klan on political matters and that when individuals revolted, they were ousted from the hooded order.

Alleged "Bullying"

One of the developments of the inquiry that aroused Reed's ire was the testimony of Mrs. W. S. Lockhart, widow of a preacher, who told how the Indianapolis chief of police had "bullyragged" a speaker at a meeting there for Frederick J. Haas, a Wood County attorney. Mrs. Lockhart said the police threatened to arrest Haas and ordered her to cancel the meeting, but that she dared them to interfere in the peace allowed by law, which was later held without incident.

"Like a Betty Ross," said Reed. "that outspoken woman had the courage to fight for her constitutional rights against these conditions imposed upon our democracy by the Ku Klux Klan. I am glad I went to Indiana, because I found there women were willing to stand against these intolerant forces of oppression."

"Reveals Sorry Story"

"Our country has sunk to the depths of degradation when police officials try to deny the right of peaceful assemblage to American citizens because their doctrines happen to be frowned upon by the Ku Klux Klan. To think that this could happen in Indiana, a state noted for a hundred years for its Americanism and in the shadow of a monument erected to Indiana soldiers who died for the liberty of negroes, reveals a sorry condition of affairs under Ku Klux domination. I admire the courage of that little woman who told them to proceed at their peril."

The slush fund inquiry will be resumed Monday by Reed at Kansas City when he will further investigate the charges of Clyde A. Walb, Republican state chairman of Indiana, that an $8,000,000 fund was raised to broadcast literature in opposition to Senators Watson and Arthur S. Robinson.

After that brief flurry, Reed will abandon slush to take the stump in senatorial campaigns.

GIRL SNUBBED AND THEN SLAIN, MURDER THEORY

Father Comes from Indiana Village To Identify Broken Body

Cincinnati, Oct. 23—Somebody abandoned her because she was a "rotten stockinged" girl who couldn't afford finery—and then Miss Beulah Purvis, 19, met her slayer.

That is the theory of authorities who today were trying to solve the murder mystery of the little girl from the Indiana village of Lawrenceburg, whose mutilated body lies in the county morgue here—while her farmer-father tries to raise money for her burial.

Goes Home Alone

Deputy Sheriffs investigating the case, declared they found that Beulah went to a skating rink with a girl friend and two young men on Sunday night, Oct. 10.

The young men, according to June Donoworth, the other girl in the party, refused to escort Beulah home in their auto "because she was so shabbily dressed," the investigators reported.

"I don't care. I've gotten home alone before and I guess I can again," the murdered girl is said to have retorted.

After that, the girl's movements have been intermittently traced to Oct. 12 and possibly through Oct. 15, officials stated.

Wednesday night, her stabbed and broken body was found in the Big Miami River, near Cleves, Ohio, a few miles from here.

"Beulah Good Girl"

Her father, who also is the father of 11 other living children, came here from his farm near Lawrenceburg to identify the body yesterday, declared that "Beulah was a good girl" and told of an assault made on her last spring.

He advanced the belief that the same man, whom he said was trying to enforce his attentions upon the young girl, might be responsible for circumstances that led to her murder.

Authorities of Hamilton County, aided by the offered assistance of Dearborn and Ohio counties, Indiana, also were working on the belief that the murdered girl "went on an auto ride" that brought her death.

SUIT AGAINST REMUS

Cincinnati, Oct. 23—A suit for $975 for tapestries alleged to have been bought but unpaid for by Mrs. Imogene Remus, is on file here against George Remus, state prisoner in the Miami County jail at Troy. Remus is serving a sentence for "maintaining a nuisance" and is also awaiting action of a federal deportation order.

DR. A. RHU TO ATTEND MONTREAL MEETING

Hospital Standardization Conference Of American College Of Surgeons Opens

Dr. A. Rhu, 147 W. Conterot, will be in attendance at the Hospital Standardization Conference of the Clinical Congress of American College of Surgeons which opened today in Montreal, Canada. Dr. Rhu is a member of the American College of Surgeons.

The conference sponsors a movement for the standardization of hospitals. Dr. Franklin H. Martin, director general of the American college of Surgeons was the principal speaker at the meeting today and named the approved hospitals of the United States and Canada.

Dr. Martin stressed the fact that in a good hospital care of the patient comes first and that, through the standardization movement, this principal can be assured. Embodied in the hospital standardization are six fundamentals upon which rests responsibility to the patient, organization, coordination, cooperation, efficiency, economy and service.

FINAL PREPARATIONS MADE FOR CHARITY FAIR

Event Planned by Marion Lodge of Eagles To Be Held Next Week

Final preparations are under way today in the lodge and clubrooms of Buckeye Aerie No. 37, Fraternal Order of Eagles for the Charity Fair to be given by the organization next week, beginning Monday night. The rooms are being elaborately decorated, and booths where numerous novelties and other articles of merchandise will be sold are under construction. The spacious quarters of the lodge will present an attractive scene when the doors are opened to the public at 7:30 o'clock Monday night.

Proceeds from the fair will be used entirely for financing the Eagles' charity work during the coming year. Food supplies, coal and other necessities are to be purchased for the poor of Marion, with distribution in charge of special committees appointed by the lodge, which work in conjunction with the various local welfare organizations. The charity fund of the Eagles was established about seven years ago and has increased each year until in 1925 a total of $2,700 was expended.

Dancing

Park plan dancing will be one of the main features of the fair. Distribution of prizes at a given time each night will add interest to the dance program. This is a novelty never used in connection with any dance in Marion before, committees in charge of the fair state.

Among the articles to be sold at the merchandise booths are candy, 25-lb. sacks of sugar, umbrellas, blankets and dolls.

Clerk of Courts Saves Taxpayers' Money

It is certainly gratifying to the citizens of Marion County to know that the Clerk of Courts office is being operated in an efficient manner and is not costing the tax payers a cent. Mr. Harley E. Koons who is present Clerk collected and paid into the County Treasury from September 1st, 1925 to September 1st, 1926, $1,977.17 more than it cost to operate the office. Due to the fact that it is necessary to have bills of sale for automobiles filed in the County Clerk's office, nearly all of the counties in the State of Ohio have hired extra help since the first of the year. However, Mr. Koons has not done this, but is in his office daily helping to carry on the work. Mr. Koons has a host of friends who are boosting him for a second term.

CITIZENS HOLD MASS MEETING AT MARYSVILLE

Proposed Increase in Water Rates Discussed; Mayor Presides

Marysville, Oct. 25—A mass meeting of Marysville citizens was held last night in the Union County Common Pleas Court Room to hear expressions in regard to the proposed increase in water rates in this city. Every available space in the auditorium was occupied by interested citizens, in session with members of the city council and Mayor A. P. Robinson, who presided at the meeting.

The session was opened with a report of the business and financial report of the water company in the past. A brief story was also given as to the organization, contracts with the city, etc. The company which was formerly known as the Marysville Light and Water Co. had charge of both light and water service in this city until the sale of the light interests to the Ohio Edison Co. three years ago. At that time the total appraisement of both utilities was considerably less than the figure that is now placed on the water interests alone and which amount is paid by the new company at the present transfer of ownership.

The report showed that the old company had operated at a loss of about $1000 in 1925, but this loss was overcome by the increased rates allowed since February. That the company is entitled to an increase is beyond question as the income only slightly overbalances the expense of operation. But the protest of Marysville is to demand a rate that would be fair to both the company and consumer.

The property was reappraised by engineers from the State Utilities Commission and for this reason the city seems to be up against it for the reason that the commission is not likely to recind its own figures. A very peculiar fact in the situation is that the company property was only listed at $80,620 for taxation for this year, this being the same amount paid out on this item last year. All property in Union County is listed at 80 per cent of its total valuation. This would place the total valuation of the company around $100,000 which is about $77,000 less than the present valuation allowed by the commission.

Various ways of combating the situation were suggested. It was finally decided that a committee consisting of the city council, six citizens and the mayor meet with representatives of the company and attempt to obtain rates that would be more reasonable. The committee was also empowered to make a protest to the Utilities Commission in case a settlement was not reached. The committee is also to make a report at another meeting which is to be called as soon as possible after the conference.

This situation has stirred local residents in such a manner as never in the history of Marysville. There is talk of the city buying the utility or establishing one of its own on an altogether different system. Water service in Marysville is not at all what it should be. Analysis showed that it was the hardest in this section of the state. Water in the city mains is not kept to the pressure cited in the contract.

92-YEAR-OLD MARION WOMAN PASSES AWAY

Mrs. Margaret O'Connor Dies at Home of Daughter on Oak-St

100 PRESENT AT CARDINGTON D. OF U. V. MEET

Lady Sheridan Tent, No. 50, Host to Delegates; 1927 Meeting at Galion

Cardington, Oct. 25—Over 100 members were present at the eighth annual convention of the Daughters of Union Veterans of the Civil War, held in Cardington, Thursday with Lady Sheridan Tent No. 50 of Cardington acting as host. In their honor the business section was decorated with flags and the school band, under the direction of Prof. Britler, gave a concert of patriotic airs on the street before the opening of the afternoon session.

Sessions were held in the Odd Fellows Hall, the meeting place of Lady Sheridan Tent being too small. When the afternoon session opened with the district president, Mrs. Lila James, presiding, representatives were present from Cincinnati, Columbus, Springfield, Mt. Vernon, Lancaster, Xenia, Mansfield, Wooster, Galion, Bucyrus, Marion, Ashland and Cardington. The afternoon session was given to reports and general business. A committee from the Ladies Auxiliary of the American Legion brought greetings from that organization and the president, Mrs. Pirl Sipe, presented the convention a beautiful basket of flowers in their behalf. Mrs. Martha Moecabee of Lady Sheridan Tent No. 50, responded.

The election of officers resulted in the election of Mrs. Bertha Rose of Galion, president; Mrs. Nannie Fisher of Wooster, senior vice president; Mrs. Beatrice Coover of Galion, junior vice president; Mrs. Faye Lentz of Ashland, treasurer; Mrs. Emma Hartman of Bucyrus, chaplain; Mrs. Martha Moecabee of Cardington, patriotic instructor; Mrs. Harriet Beck of Mansfield, secretary; Mrs. Gail Montgomery of Mt. Vernon, guide; Mrs. Nancy White, assistant guide; Mrs. Ella Kahnheimer, musicision. Appointments were made as follows: Council, Mrs. Lila James, Mrs. Stella Cochran and Mrs. Edith Gephart; color bearers, Mrs. Ruth Osborn, Mrs. McElbery and Mrs. Cox.

The invitation of Tent No. 91 of Galion to hold the 1927 convention in their city was accepted. The evening session was given to the exemplification of the ritualistic work of the order by officers of Tent No. 50 of Cardington.

Beautiful Courthouse, Fine School System at Kenton, Home City of Champions in Many Competition Fields

Seat of Hardin County Has Enviable Reputation as Friendly City

BY GILMORE HIETT
State Editor, The Star.

An outstanding feature about the town of Kenton is the high place won for it in a great number of competitive lines by its citizens, its organizations and its various business enterprises.

Kenton is virtually the home of the champion corn growers of the world. It is the seat of a county ranking among the highest of others producing districts in the world. The two largest sanitary creams and two largest electric heat welders in use today in the world were manufactured at Kenton. The Kenton Chamber of Commerce is cited in a recent nationwide survey report of the United States chamber as being the most ideal organization of its kind in a town of less than 10,000 population in the United States.

The Kenton Rocks' basketball team, a professional organization, once held the world's championship for two consecutive years, winning the right of title claim at national tournaments conducted in the Coliseum at Chicago. The Kenton High School basketball team has held a district championship in the Northwestern Ohio High School Athletic Association for the last three years. Billy Southworth, star outfielder of the world's champion St. Louis Cardinals baseball team, claim to have received his first start in professional ball as a member of a Kenton team. Two Kenton concerns are said to be the largest manufacturers respectively of a certain line of iron toys and of fig bars.

The Courthouse

The physical attributes of Marion's neighbor city are unusual, too, for a town of its size. In the center of the business district is a spacious public square, occupying a full city block, on which is situated the Hardin County courthouse, shown in the center of the bird's eye photograph above. This mammoth stone structure was erected in 1912-13 and is claimed by the citizens of Kenton as being the most beautiful county courthouse in all northern Ohio. In truth, there are few public buildings in the state can surpass it in beauty or completeness of facilities.

The new federal postoffice building at Kenton was occupied early in the current year. It is located on W. Franklin-st and is equipped with the most modern devices for the handling of the mails. It was erected at a cost of approximately $50,000. Prior to the building of the federal building the postoffice was housed in leased rooms.

School System

Students of the Kenton Public Schools attend classes at seven different buildings. There are also two annexes to the high school building, E. Columbus-st, erected to care for the overflow of students from the main building. The newest building the group of seven is the Espy School, a modern grade building erected a few years ago in south Kenton. It is equipped with every facility for the teaching of young students and also has a spacious auditorium which also serves as an indoor playground.

The vocational agriculture department of the high school is maintained in an old grade building in south Kenton, is said to have the largest enrollment of any like department in the state and the only one having two full time instructors.

School Activities

Activities are given a large place in the program of the Kenton public schools. Football, track, girls' and boys' basketball teams are maintained in the athletic department. All students have the advantage of classes in physical education maintained as a regular course in the school curriculum. There are 75 pieces in the Kenton High School band, which is open to the membership of students in the St. Anthony Institute, a parochial school, as well as the public school students. A school orchestra and boys and girls' glee clubs also have a part in the school musical program.

The St. Anthony Institute is represented in athletic circles by a boys' basketball team.

Industries

Industrially Kenton is in better condition than it has been for several years. There are 13 industries in the town furnishing employment for more than 1,000 persons with an approximate payroll for 12 months' continuous operation of $1,525,000.

Among the articles manufactured by the various concerns are cranes, sluice gates, lolly loans, monuments, cap pistols, road building materials, ice, iron fixtures, corn huskers, automobile license tags, hand carved candy, cardboard signs, fertilizer and iron toys.

The leading civic organizations of Kenton are the Chamber of Commerce, the Kiwanis Club, the Business Club, and the Business Women's Club. There are 14 churches in Kenton, 13 of which are active. One congregation (the First Baptist) this spring suffered a great financial loss when the church building collapsed while being remodeled. They are planning to rebuild immediately and have conducted various campaigns for raising funds for that purpose.

Prominent Men

Kenton is not without its nationally and internationally prominent figures. W. T. Johnson, an executive of the Rumble Co., was re-elected president of the National Council of Catholic Men, who closed their national convention this week at Cleveland. W. W. Durbon, former state Democratic chairman and president of the Scioto Sign Co., is president of the International Hoothorhoof of Marvelous, who held their first convention this year at his magic theater at his home. The magician delegates will again be his guests in 1925. W. W. Bowers former probate judge of Hardin county and a prominent onion farmer, is secretary of the National Onion Growers Association which has held its annual convention at Kenton for a number of years.

To properly inaugurate the installation of a modern white way street lighting system in the business district, this summer a carnival week of celebration was held in the city the week of July 4. Civic clubs in sponsoring the affair styled it as a homecoming and invited all former Kenton residents to attend. One of the homecomers in addressing a civic club luncheon remarked that among salesmen and others who constantly travel Kenton is known as the "How d' ya do town", the on a hearty greeting by the natives. His remarks served as a realization of the fondest dreams of those interested in the town's welfare. Kenton business men realize that their town cannot become a metropolis overnight. In meeting the competition of larger centers of trade they have striven for the constant good will of their business held. Their businesses flourish and efforts have brought to Kenton the enviable reputation of being a friendly, happy city.

WILLIAM LEOFFERT IS NAMED POST COMMANDER

Active Kenton Legion Member Succeeds Ralph Jones, Business Man

Kenton, Oct. 25—William Leoffert, for many years an active member of the Kenton Post of the American Legion, has been selected commander of the post for the coming year, succeeding Ralph Jones, business man of this city.

Selection was made during the annual election of officers here last night. Others named were: Cliff G. Bailey, vice commander; Kenneth Young, treasurer; Ivan Smith, adjutant; Rev. C. J. Yeisley, chaplain; Carl W. Smith, historian; J. E. McMahon, sergeant-at-arms; E. H. McFarland, service officer; Ralph Jones, Dr. Rollie L. Johnson, Emmett Martin, Lawrence Hord and Arthur Dorn, members of the executive committee.

During the annual meeting the ex-service men passed resolutions opposing any increase whatever in the telephone rates here. Their action followed that of city council and seven granges in opposing the proposed new rates of the Kenton Telephone Co. for its patrons here.

Homer Simpson, Forest, delegate to the National convention recently closed in Philadelphia, gave a detailed report of the annual meeting.

GREEN CAMP MISSIONARY SOCIETY HOLDS MEETING

Green Camp, Oct. 25—Thursday afternoon the Missionary society of the Baptist church met with Mrs. Charles Dreyer with Mrs. J. D. Encapher as assistant hostess. KENTON POST PLANS DISTRICT DINNER MEET

Making Effort To Secure Brig. Gen. John R. McQuigg for Address

Kenton, Oct. 25—A district dinner and meeting of American Legion Posts in this section of the State is being arranged by the Kenton Post to be held in this city sometime during November, it was announced today.

An effort is being made to secure Brig. Gen. John R. McQuigg, Cleveland, immediate past commander of the American Legion, and officers of the state body, to address the gathering.

The rally is being planned for the purpose of launching an intensive membership drive that the strength of the Legion in Northwestern Ohio might be increased.

Posts in Lima, Marion, Findlay, Bellefontaine, Upper Sandusky and other cities in Northwest Ohio, are to be invited to participate.

Definite date and arrangements for the rally are to be completed at a meeting of the Kenton Post here in two weeks. Committees for the affair will be selected at that time.

MARYSVILLE HIGH WINS FROM UPPER ARLINGTON

Union County Bunch Now Has Five Victories to Credit

Marysville, Oct. 25—Five victories and no defeats. Such was the standing of the Marysville High School football team after meeting the much touted Upper Arlington eleven on the local gridiron at Recreation Park yesterday afternoon. Score was 20 to 0 in favor of Marysville.

Marysville kicked to Upper Arlington as a starting play. The Columbus team failed to advance with the pigskin and Marysville took the same and marched down the field by means of line plunges. Laird took the ball over with a terrific line plunge. Not satisfied with one touchdown Marysville repeated the feat first kicking the ball into their opponents' territory where they recovered the ball on 35 yard line. Several line plunges and a pass to Baker resulted in second tally for the quarter. Laird made two points in this quarter by place kicking.

No more scoring was made by either squad until the last part of the fourth quarter. During this time the ball was kept in Upper Arlington's territory most of the time. It was only once that Marysville was threatened by their opponents who succeeded in advancing to the local's 20 yard line, this being the nearest the Columbus squad came to scoring a touchdown.

The last quarter opened with Marysville in possession of the ball and in the center of the field. The pigskin was rapidly advanced toward their opponents goal line by an end run by Scheiderer, and taken on to the 1-yard line by another terrific line plunge by Laird. Coach Kinganore made what was thought a rather queer substitution in the Marysville backfield by running in Asman, the midget quarter-back, for Scheiderer. Asman made good when he slipped through for a touchdown. He weighs about 95 pounds.

Marysville made a total of 12 first downs to 3 for their opponents. One was earned by them and the other two were given them on Marysville's penalty.

200 LODGEMEN TO ATTEND GATHERING

Kenton Moose To Hold Annual Picnic And Dinner Sunday

Kenton, Oct. 25—Two hundred visiting lodgemen are expected in this city Sunday when the Kenton Lodge of Moose holds its annual picnic and dinner in the lodge quarters on W. Franklin-st.

Marion, Mansfield, Findlay, Lima, Wapakoneta, and other cities in this district will attend.

The festivities open at six o'clock with the service of a dinner followed with addresses and music.

George H. Lingrel, high official of the lodge, is in general charge of the rally.

Ashley News

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Haughn and son Charles were guests Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Homer Haughn, near Prospect.

Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Davis, son, Orville Davis, daughter, Mrs. Elmer Mercy Carley and her daughter, Norma Jean, all of Rio Grande, Ohio, were guests Sunday of Dr. H. W. Davis.

Mrs. Elizabeth Fleming has returned to her home in Bowling Park, Fla., where she will spend the winter.

Mrs. Baxter Bartholomew is visiting relatives in Michigan.

ENTERTAINS

Galion, Oct. 3—Mrs. E. Paul Monroe entertained at bridge last evening at her home on Harding Way West honoring her guest Mrs. Eastman. Four tables were in play throughout the time with Mrs. George Phelp winning high honors and Mrs. H. H. Freese the low. The hostess served luncheon at the conclusion of the pleasurable event.

HOME-MAKING THREE R'S

Ann Arbor, Mich., Oct. 25—Religion, rhythm and risibility are the three R's of home-making, Mrs. H. A. Burnham, social worker of Newtonville, Mass., told the annual convention of the Michigan Federation of Women's Clubs here.

LUCREZIA SCORNS MARRIAGE

New York, Oct. 25—Lucrezia Bori, Metropolitan opera singer, arrived from Europe, still unmarried, and said maybe she never would wed. Marriage with an artist, she believes, is impossible, because an artist thinks more of his art than his wife.

General Palmer E. Pierce has been president of the National Collegiate Athletic Association for 21 years and is the only president the organization ever has had.

ON THE AIR — RADIO — EVERYWHERE

MARION RADIO FANS FREE OF INTERFERENCE

Closest Large Broadcasting Station to Marion Is Located in Columbus

BY EDWIN A. SCHOENLER
Radio Editor

With no local stations to tune in or out, Marion radio fans suffer little interference in their selection of the larger stations of the country.

The closest huge broadcasting outfit to Marion is located in Columbus. Interference from this source causes little trouble to local listeners. Although a large number of smaller stations may be heard "humming" around the wave length occupied by Columbus, the stations are "weak" and could not be tuned out if Columbus was not on the air.

At times, according to complaint of some fans, Columbus stations interfere with the reception of programs from WJZ, Atlantic Coast. Complaints of this nature, however, are few.

WLW, Cincinnati, and WSB, Atlanta, are probably the most difficult stations to separate on the dial. Both occupy practically the same wave length and both are strong stations, broadcasting popular programs. Since the increase in power of the Cincinnati station, WSB, Atlanta, can hardly be heard when the Ohio outfit comes on the air. Programs from the Southern station, however, usually do not get under way until a late hour, while WLW holds the air only until 10 or 11 o'clock.

WRC Wave Length

Only WRC, Washington, occupies a wave length in the vicinity of WJZ, New York, one of the stations best heard in Marion. The Washington station is only a 1,000-watt station while WJZ claims 1,500 watts, thus "drowning" out any interference from the Capitol transmitter.

WSAI, Cincinnati, WWJ, Detroit, and WTAM, Cleveland, the three chain stations received by most radio fans in this city are bothered with little or no interference. WJR, Pontiac, and WCX, Detroit, occupy the 517 meter wave length in conjunction, with only one station sending on the air at an interval. Both stations are well heard here by those who have radio sets with the power to reach high wave lengths.

Early in the evening, all stations in the 300 and 200 meters wave length shriek "run together." All stations in that section are rather lacking in power so are too distant to be tuned in well in Marion.

TWO 1925 FAVORITES TO BE HEARD THIS SEASON

Charles Hackett, Tenor, and Paul Kochanski, Violinist, To Broadcast Again

Two popular favorites of last year will be heard during the broadcasting of the Atwater Kent Hour, at 9:15, Sunday night, through WEAF, New York, and chain stations, including WTAM, WSAI and WWJ.

The two artists to appear are Charles Hackett, tenor, and Paul Kochanski, violinist. They will be assisted by the Atwater Kent Orchestra now under the direction of Louis Edlin.

Charles Hackett, the tenor soloist of the Chicago Civic Opera Company, has had a rapid rise in the music world and is now regarded as one of the fixed stars in the musical firmament.

Stations broadcasting the entertainment include WEAF, WEEI, WGR, WRC, WWJ, WSAI, WGN, WCCO, KSD, WJAR, WTAG, WCAE, WFAM, WOC, and WFI.

PET RACCOON ON LEASH CREATES EXCITEMENT

Crowds Trail Animal as Master Leads Him Through Downtown Section

A man with a muff was seen walking up Church by the High School yesterday afternoon or so it appeared until one came within close range of the man to see that the muff was not a muff at all, but a live and very affectionate pet raccoon. And with a coat that would make any woman jealous.

The happy owner of the animal is David Switzer, 508 Wyandotte, who told his interested audience a thing or two about "Billy" and everyone in general. "You bet he'll bite" was the answer given a kid who ventured such a question. He told stories of the dainty habits of this particular raccoon, which carefully washed all his food before eating it. Meanwhile "Billy" was not idle, having found a telephone pole, to which, to the consternation of his master, he insisted upon clinging.

The audience was satisfied only with an account of Billy's life, having which, they contentedly dispersed, declaring that was the most unusual animal they'd ever seen attired in a dog and collar chain, and trotting about the uptown thoroughfares with his master.

LINER IS CHRISTENED

Herkimer, Oct. 23—Mrs. James J. Walker, wife of the mayor of New York, christened a concrete barge of Chesapeake over the name of the transatlantic American liner New York.

Mrs. Walker, facing the bottle as it was tied to the first cleat for the christening, saw the wine flowed back over the top bars and party frocks stood her. As the liner slid down the ways the American flag floated above the German and Danish standards.

1,424 LICENSES ISSUED SINCE NOVEMBER, 1920

Of This Number 878 Stations Have Been Discontinued, Survey Discloses

A radio survey, compiled by 12 people working for two years in the broadcast division of the American Telephone and Telegraph Co., shows that since November, 1920, the United States government issued licenses to 1,424 broadcasting stations. Of these, 878, or 62 per cent, have been discontinued.

The reasons for discontinuance are published in the report and show that 45 per cent closed down because of inability to finance and 17 per cent, because service was unsatisfactory as compared with the larger and more powerful stations.

RESOLUTION NO. 2200

DECLARING IT NECESSARY TO IMPROVE FAHEY STREET, FROM SILVER STREET TO LOTS NOS. 5370 AND 6380, IN THE CITY OF MARION, OHIO, BY CONSTRUCTING A SANITARY AND STORM WATER SEWER THEREIN.

Be it resolved by the Council of the City of Marion, and State of Ohio, (two-thirds of all the members elected thereto concurring):

Section 1. That it is hereby declared necessary to improve Fahey Street, from Silver Street to Lots Nos. 5370 and 6380, in the City of Marion, Ohio, by constructing a sanitary and storm water sewer therein, according to the plans, specifications, estimates and profiles of the proposed improvement, heretofore prepared by the City Engineer, and now on file in the office of the Director of Public Service, which said plans, specifications, estimates and profiles are hereby approved. Said construction shall be of that class commonly used.

Section 2. That the grade of said street as improved, shall be shown on said plans, specifications and profiles on file. The established grade.

Section 3. That the whole cost of said improvement, including engineering thereof, and the cost of interest which shall be assessed by the front foot rule upon the following described lots and lands, to-wit: All lots and lands bounding and abutting upon the property improved, which said lots and lands are hereby determined to be especially benefited by said improvement, all the property owners affected by said improvement having signed a petition waiving all statutory limitations imposed by the General Code of Ohio as to the amount it is permitted for said improvement, and any and all irregularities pertaining thereto, especially all limitations imposed by law as to Provide for the Organization of Cities and Incorporated Villages, etc., commonly known as the Municipal Code, passed October 25, 1902, by the General Assembly of Ohio, and all amendments and supplementary acts thereto, the statute limiting the assessment to thirty-three and one-third (33 1-3) percent of the actual value of the property to be assessed, the service of notices by the intention to make said improvement; the publication of the resolution, ordinance and assessing ordinance; the limitations under Section 3822 of the General Code of Ohio, which said petition is on file in the office of the Clerk of the Council of the City of Marion, Ohio, and, the cost of said improvement shall include the expense of preliminary and other surveys, and of printing and publishing of said notices, resolutions and ordinances required, and the serving of said notices, the cost of construction, together with interest on bonds issued in anticipation of the collection of deferred installments of assessments, and all other necessary expenses.

Section 4. That the assessments so to be levied shall be paid in five annual installments with interest on deferred installments not to exceed six (6%) per cent per annum, payable semi-annually; provided, however, that the owner of any property assessed may, at his option, pay such assessments in cash or any number of installments of the same, at any time within thirty (30) days after such assessments have been levied, with interest thereon to the next semi-annual date of said bonds following the date of payment.

Section 5. That bonds of the City of Marion, Ohio, shall be issued in anticipation of the collection of assessments by installments, and in an amount equal thereto, and that the remainder of the entire cost of said improvement shall be paid by the issuance of bonds in the manner provided by law.

Section 6. This resolution shall take effect and be in force from and after the earliest period allowed by law.

Passed October 11, 1926.

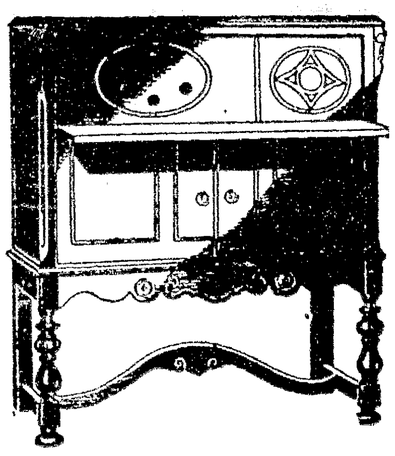
ASK to see King Radio 63. Six tubes, fully shielded, single-dial station selector gets the station with a simple turn of a single knob. Beautiful cabinet in two-tone finish.



KING RADIO
"Most Radio Per Dollar"

WHEN father has gone to work and the children to school, the house seems as big and empty as an auditorium.

Then it's great for mother to turn on the radio and pick up the things that are on the air every morning. There are new menus, talks on health, marketing hints, new ideas on house-furnishing. And music to help her sing at her work.

Here's a King Radio 63 that will please mother immensely. It's a six-tube set, which means distance and volume and tone quality. And it has the new King Single-dial Station Selector by means of which mother can pick up the station she wants with "a simple turn of a single knob!" No bother—nothing to "know about electricity" or radio—just turn the knob and get the station she wants.

But this King Radio 63 is something more than good radio. It is a beautiful piece of furniture open or closed. Finishing in two-tone—will harmonize with almost any finish. Your neighbors will never have a better radio than you if you have a King.

SMALL DOWN PAYMENT

We will place this King Radio in your home—let you try it three nights to prove to yourself that King is truly "most radio per dollar." Get the great parade of stations on the air. And then you'll never part with your King Radio. A small down payment gets the set. The balance you pay in convenient monthly amounts as you enjoy the set. We do all the installing—turn the King over to you, show you in five minutes how to operate it—then it's yours to enjoy.

Come in today and see this King Radio. Bring your wife along. For you must see it as well as hear it—to really appreciate it! Or if you can't come phone us, and we'll have a King in your home before tomorrow night

"We don't have to hunt at all—we just select!"

"I NEVER saw a radio set a little girl could operate as well as I can until we got our Atwater Kent ONE Dial set," said a man we know.

"As it has only one dial, my four-year-old daughter can work it perfectly. Sometimes when we're in the dining room I ask her to go into the living room, where the set is, and bring in the station we want. Within ten seconds she does it.

"We can actually sit there by fire-light—or in the dark—and change programs at will.

"You see, with this set you don't have to do any hunting for stations. You just select what you want. If a station is within range, you just can't help getting it—in fact, all stations within range come marching in, one after the other.

"Talk about Radio made easy! There couldn't be anything easier to operate than this Atwater Kent set, with the ONE Dial."

Select your set from us now—you'll sure like our personal service—you can decide easily from our complete line of Radio and Pooley Cabinets.

WEAO BROADCASTING ITS DAILY MARKET SCHEDULE

WEAO, Columbus, has a regular daily market schedule, which has met with great popularity with farmers in this vicinity during the last few months.

The schedule is arranged as follows: 9:45 a. m., opening livestock markets; 11 a. m., livestock markets; 1 p. m., livestock markets, and 4 p. m., grain, seed, butter, eggs and poultry, closing markets.

MANY STATIONS BROADCASTING GRID RESULTS

Play-by-Play Accounts of All Important Games Proves Popular Feature

BY EDWIN A. SCHOENLEB
(Radio Editor)

The football season is in full swing and the radio season is swinging right along with it.

The many broadcasting stations throughout the country have released their schedules for broadcasting play-by-play descriptions of the games to be played, and from now until Thanksgiving Day it is safe to say that admirers of this sport will reserve their Saturday afternoons to either attend the games to be played by their alma mater or else sit close to their loud speaker within the confines of their home or nearest radio dealer's place of business.

Started Saturday

Last Saturday Ohio State's first big game was transmitted from WEAO, the university broadcasting station. The game was played with Columbia University at the Polo Grounds New York, and was relayed to the Columbus station by wire, being sent out over the air by A. Lee Henderson, famous sport announcer.

Today the Ohio State-Iowa game, played at Ohio Stadium, Columbus, was broadcast directly from the field, with Henderson, the announcer, seated high above the huge crowds watching and describing the movements of the Buckeyes and Hawkeyes.

Henderson is "cooped up" in a small glass cage and views the game without hearing the noise of the crowd through the microphone into which he is speaking.

Most radio fans are familiar with the roar of the crowds when a brilliant play is enacted on the gridiron. This roar is heard through a number of microphones suspended in various sections of the stadium and may easily be eliminated by the announcer. The announcer usually allows the roar to be heard for a few seconds and then closes the suspended microphones, giving an account of the play through the "cooler" in the glass cage.

The glass cage is located in the press box on the west side of the stadium and the announcer has a clear view of every play.

Michigan State

Probably the most interesting game of the season will come on the air at 2 o'clock, Saturday, Nov. 13, when Michigan meets Ohio State on the stadium gridiron. Those who are not lucky enough to get a seat for the game will "hug the radio."

Other games coming through WEAO include the Chicago and Ohio State battle at Chicago, to be broadcast by the relay method, and the Illinois game at Urbana, Ill., also coming by the relay route.

The Chicago game, beginning at 2:30, Saturday, Oct. 30, may be heard direct from the field of action through WGN, Chicago. It is possible that the same station will broadcast the Illinois game on Nov. 20.

Eastern football games may be received through WEAF, New York; WGY, Schenectady; WJZ, New York, and other stations.

Probably one of the most unique features on the radio in connection with football is the broadcasting of games at night from YSAI, Cincinnati. The games are played under the arc lights in the huge stadium at Cincinnati and are a treat to the many who are unable to listen in during the afternoon games.

BOWE'S CAPITOL FAMILY POSES FOR NEW PICTURE

Major Bowes' Capitol "Family," heard every Sunday night from WEAF, and chain stations, have posed for a new photograph, copies of which will be sent out on request, it has been announced.

Several changes have taken place in the circle during the last year, and so many inquiries have been received about the various additions and changes that Major Bowes arranged to have a photograph taken of the group showing its personnel.

During the last year 185,000 photographs of the Capitol "Family" were sent to listeners.

No dull evenings now since New Discovery makes distance easy for ALL New MO-NOD-IC Receiver

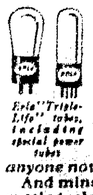
Erla Omnitone Cone Speaker



The Thrill of "distance" . . . that's what you wanted, but failed to get on old-fashioned receivers . . . unless you had an expert's skill. Thanks to a new discovery . . . everyone now commands the air. At the turning of two easy dials . . . new stations appear . . . new music floats in . . . the air is everyone's to enjoy. No dull evenings for anyone now.

And mind you . . . no squeals or howls! . . . Clean-cutting selectivity. Fuzziness and distortion . . . gone.

This is the radio sensation . . . acclaimed by experts a year ahead . . . you'll want to know all about.

Scientists Discover New Principle

Scientists made a discovery. Erla engineers, collaborating with the distinguished staff of the Radio Frequency Laboratories, have done what they term "erasing regeneration" . . . the cause of squeals, howls and distortion.

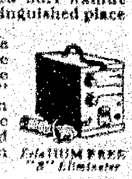
Manufacturers have often sought to eliminate it. But never succeeded except by sacrificing distance and volume—too great a penalty. Now regeneration is banished . . . but without loss. There is an actual gain in reception.

No wonder the new Erla (RFL) is considered a year ahead. Few now will be satisfied with old-fashioned receivers—especially when the improved Erla (RFL) may be purchased so very reasonably.

Beauty Unrivaled—Value Unapproached

You'll be delighted with Erla cabinets, too. Consoles that are true "period" reproductions, in rich two-tone antique finish. The DeLuxe model is especially attractive in quartered and matched burl walnut . . . a true art object worthy of a distinguished place in any drawing room.

And the value . . . whether of table cabinets or consoles . . . just cannot be duplicated. Manufacture under one roof accomplishes these "one-profit" benefits for you. Just for your own protection you will want to see the new Erla (RFL) first. At stores listed below or demonstrated in your own home if you desire.



Price range of table cabinets, $89.50-$95.50. Consoles, $129.50-$146.50.

Ex-Champion Harry Greb Dies After Minor Operation

Popular Pittsburgher and Winner of Many Big Purses Meets Death in Sanitarium

Never Regains Consciousness After Operation on Nose in Atlantic City; Survived by Ten-Year-Old Daughter Who Will Receive Pittsburgh Real Estate

ONE of boxing's most colorful ex-champions, Harry Greb, of Pittsburgh, who fought and defeated the best fighters of the past 10 years while defying all rules of training and good conduct, died Friday following an operation in an Atlantic City sanitarium.

Greb, reckless, irresponsible, lionhearted, will be missed by boxing fans even although his star had set a few months before his death.

In his prime, the Pittsburgh windmill whipped Gene Tunney, the present world's heavyweight champion, Jack Dempsey, whom he outfought in a private quarrel aboard the good ship Granite State, Tommy Gibbons, cleverest of heavyweights, Johnny Wilson, from whom he won the middleweight title in 1923, Mickey Walker, and a host of other champions.

Fought 400 Battles

During his 13 years in the ring, Greb fought 400 fights. He was a marvel of boxing in that he never trained seriously for any of these contests and burned the candle at both ends during the brief periods between bouts.

It was following one of the many automobile accidents in which he had been a victim that the boxer, whose real name was Harry Berg, was taken to a sanitarium for an operation to remove a broken bone from his skull.

From that operation Greb never recovered. It was performed Thursday night, and he died without regaining consciousness Friday afternoon.

Rules Meant Nothing

In the ring, Greb fought as irresponsibly as he lived outside it. He cared nothing for rules. It was head, shoulders, elbows and thumbs, anything a referee would permit.

The affair with Dempsey was when the ex-heavyweight champion was training for Bill Brennan. Greb punched, cuffed and slammed the then titleholder about for two rounds, making Dempsey look so bad Jack never again would put the gloves on with the Pittsburgh windmill.

Greb always said that if Dempsey would give him a fight, the heavyweight championship would change hands, and Jack, for one, believed him.

Gene Tunney was licked by Greb in Madison Square Garden and had to hand over the American light heavyweight title in 1922. Others who were beaten by Harry included: Tommy Gibbons, Jack Renault, Jimmy Slattery, Ted Moore, Jimmy Delaney, Tommy Loughran, Johnny Wilson, Charley Weinert, Mickey Walker, Hartley Madden, Jeff Smith, Bob Roper and Kid Norfolk.

Most of Greb's fights were "no decision" affairs. He was often engaged in bouts two and three times a week, living riotously in the meantime. Finally the candle which had been burning at both ends for so long flickered and just naturally went out.

With plenty of money made from his 400 fights—but no idea of how to save or invest it—Greb lived heedlessly and at a killing pace during the past two years since his wife died of tuberculosis. He was survived by a daughter about 10 years of age.

He died well to do, owning property in Pittsburgh, but without the reward to which his long and extraordinary career as a fighting man entitled him.

SOME HIGH SPOTS IN GREB'S CAREER

1913—Knocked out by Joe Chip, his only knockout.

1920 — Knocked out Gunboat Smith in first round.

May 21, 1922 — Won light heavyweight championship of America from Gene Tunney.

Feb. 23, 1923 — Lost light heavyweight title to Gene Tunney.

Aug. 31, 1923 — Won middleweight title of world from Johnny Wilson.

Feb. 26, 1926—Lost middleweight crown to Tiger Flowers.

JIMMY MALONEY AND MUNN WIN

Dekuh Floored Eight Times; Carter Disqualified in Seventh

New York, Oct. 23—One potential heavyweight champion has joined the dodo bird and the great auk today and another has failed to prove his standing as a result of the second session of Tex Rickard's elimination tournament held at Madison square Garden last night. Arthur Dekuh, giant Italian, passed over the horizon when Jimmy Maloney, the plump Boston Irishman, flattened him in two rounds after flooring him eight times, and Monte Munn, of Nebraska, failed to add to his reputation when he was awarded the decision over Carl Carter, at the end of seven poor rounds. Carter was disqualified because he wouldn't fight. Munn was willing to battle, but Carter was not.

Dekuh failed to show anything but a long chin that seemed to gravitate into the orbit of Maloney's wild swings, while Munn, although winning with ease, appeared to lack the usual aggressiveness and the willingness to take chances. Carter, however, refused to fight or even entertain any ideas along that line.

SNYDER WINS ON FOUL IN SECOND

Illinois Benefit Boxing Show Attracts Only Small Gate

Chicago, Oct. 23—The benefit boxing show staged by the State Athletic Commission for the relief of Illinois flood sufferers, was a disappointment, O. W. Huncke, of the commission, announced today.

Only 2,041 fans attended. The gate amounted to $5,438.

Jackie Snyder, of New York, and Ray Miller, of Chicago, fought the event. Snyder was awarded the decision in the second round on a foul. Miller hit him low and the New Yorker sank to the floor in agony. Dr. J. P. O'Connell examined Snyder and said he was unable to continue.

Al Van Ryan, of St. Paul, won a decision over Jimmy Finley, of Louisville, in the 10 round semi-final. Harry Forbes, Columbus, Ohio, bantam, scored the cleaner punches and was awarded the verdict over Joe Ryder, of Brooklyn, in an eight-round preliminary.

A rumored trade in which Lamar Welch and Poole would go to the St. Louis Browns in a trade for first baseman George Sisler was denied by Connie Mack last week.

Walter Camp Day
Another Champion Retires
Public Likes Professionals

BY CHUCK HARRISON

WALTER CAMP Day is being observed today by a total of 62 college games in all sections of the country as a part of the nation wide gridiron tribute this year to the memory of the "Father of Football."

"The designation of "Walter Camp" games is part of the program sponsored by the National College Athletic Association to honor Camp's memory. The association is sharing with Yale athletic authorities the raising of $300,000 to build a memorial to Camp in the form of a monumental gateway to the Yale athletic fields at New Haven.

The principal memorial games scheduled so far for the rest of the season follows:

Oct. 23, Harvard-Dartmouth, West Virginia-West Virginia Wesleyan, Vanderbilt-Georgia, Ohio State-Iowa; Oct. 30, Cornell-Columbia, Georgia-Florida, Chicago-Ohio State, Northwestern-Notre Dame; Nov. 6, Rutgers-Lafayette, Alabama-Poly-Georgia, Michigan-Wisconsin; Nov. 13, Colgate-Syracuse; Nov. 20, Fordham-Georgetown, Illinois-Ohio State, Michigan State-Haskell; Nov. 25, Pittsburgh-Penn State, Nebraska-Washington.

WALTER CAMP, truly the "Father of Football," was considered a very personal friend of the writer having helped shortly before his fatal illness in the planning of a score book for football which is on the market today. His interests in the game were always first and no matter how busy, he always found a moment along the way to give advice of which he had an abundance because of his long experience. Mr. Camp, in reality, was a business success because of his fatherly attitude which went far beyond his interests in football. It will be a long time before the loss of Mr. Camp is replaced, even though today we have the very efficient services of E. K. Hall, of New York, chairman of the football rules committee. Chairman Hall for many years was an associate of the late Father Camp.

SINGLE G, one of the greatest pacers in the history of the American turf, will thrill Marion County fans no more. Furthermore Single G will never thrill any race fans again because he has been retired and will serve his remaining days in the stud.

Single G had many admirers in Marion and Marion County because of his numerous appearances on the Marion County Fair Society and other neighboring county fair tracks.

Following Single G's appearance last season in the Ohio Short Ship Circuit meetings, he appeared only once in the Grand Circuit meeting at Cleveland. It was a free-for-all event and very good; but nothing like what was one time considered only ordinary work for the world's record holder.

Single G established his record on a half-mile track Aug. 26, 1918, at Des Moines, Iowa, when he paced the mile in 2:01 flat.

Fortunately the writer was in the press-box at Mansfield in 1924 when Single G established an Ohio half-mile track record of 1:02 1-4. At that time Single G was going as strong as ever and as many of the more experienced horsemen related, he could have done even better at that time had he been driven.

Last season when Single G appeared at Mansfield before going into the Grand Circuit meeting at Cleveland, his speed was lacking due to the fact that he had not been in training long enough. The season was late on account of the cold wet weather.

RALEIGH C. GARRETSON, son of a well known Ashland Lumber dealer who has appeared here several times in match play, did not do so bad for only a beginner when he finished second in the finals of Cleveland's District Golf Association meeting this week. Garretson, a good all round sportsman, has been attracting considerable attention all season as a strong golfer at Cleveland and other Ohio courses. No doubt, he will be heard from again some time this winter while in Florida.

PROFESSIONAL tennis is paying so far at least that is the report made recently by C. C. Pyle of New York City, the first man to take the risk. And, of course, he is being criticized severely by many because he is the successful pioneer just the same as was Columbus and others. Men and women today are just as eager to offer their criticisms as were the men and women of long ago in a time we refer to as HISTORY, nothing different, however, than the time we are living.

"In six engagements", Pyle says, "the professional troupe headed by Suzanne Lenglen and Vincent Richards has played before 41,000 spectators, who have paid $83,400 to see the international stars twinkle." And, why shouldn't they pay.

If the average thus far in attendance and receipts is maintained for the remainder of the transcontinental tour, the promoter figures his gross receipts will be between $700,000 and $800,000.

* * *

NOTHING would delight us more now than to see Red Grange, the first leg little professional football promoter do exactly the same thing; because he is only one of those poor boys (one man) and if he has the goods the public demands—let him deliver it!

LAST NIGHT'S FIGHTS

New York, Jim Maloney, of Boston, won technical knockout over Arthur Dekuh, of Brooklyn, in the second round. Monte Munn, of Nebraska, won decision over Carl Carter, of New York, when Carter was disqualified in seventh round for holding. Jack Donavan, of Hoboken, N. J., drew with Sandy Seibert, of Pittsburgh, 10 rounds. Yale Okun, of New York, won decision from Bob Lawson, of Alabama, 10 rounds.

Camden, N. J.—Roxie Allen, of Camden, won decision over Ruby Stein, of New York, 10 rounds; Lou Guglielmi, of New York, won decision over Johnnie Shearan, of Philadelphia, six rounds.

TRACTION AND HUBER TEAMS ARE WINNERS

Star Wins One, While Displaymen Are Shut Out

Hubers remain tied with the Post office and Steam Shovel for first place in the Y. M. C. A. Industrial Bowling League as a result of scoring a sweep over the big Displaymen's team, Friday night at the association alleys where the Columbus, Delaware and Marion Electric team took two games from The Star. The C., D. & M. jumped two notches out of a tie for fourth ahead of the Expressmen into a tie with the Displaymen for third. The Star is resting in second position tied with the Logans and Anthonys.

C., D. & M. won the first and third games by 4 and 62 points and The Star cut the grand totals to only 37 plus when the latter took the second game by 39 points. Sorreles, 187; Garver, 202, were high.

Second Match

Huber's undefeated team won three games by margins of 25, 85 and 77 points which allowed them a 187 pin lead in the totals. Peters rolled 198 for the winners and Murphy had 184 for the Displays.

RESERVE ELEVEN LOSES AT LARUE

Harding's Second and Third Teams Lose Opener, 13-0

Harding High's reserves lost their first football game Friday afternoon to LaRue by a score of 13 to 0 at LaRue. Arrangements are being made to play other games with neighboring schools.

LaRue has one of the best teams it has had for several years. It scored the first touchdown when Quarterback Morrison fumbled a punt and got a second tally when Harding failed to cover for a pass. LaRue has also won from Richwood High this season.

The second and third teams were accompanied to LaRue by Coach Allen Bally Compton who has been working hard this season assisting Coach Paul Sprout. The Reserves received helpful experience in their LaRue game and it is expected that they will play a return game.

Information received Friday forenoon at the superintendent's office at Harding High was to the effect that the Varsity was playing the afternoon game at LaRue.

Harding's first stringers are resting today. Other North Central Ohio League teams are playing league games. A number of local players and fans are witnessing high school and college games today.

Chicago—Jackie Snyder, featherweight, of New York, won from Ray Miller, of Chicago, second round on foul. Al Van Ryan, middleweight of St. Paul, beat Jimmy Finley, of Louisville, 10 rounds. Paul Allen, featherweight, of Chicago, drew with Henry Usse, New York, eight rounds. Harry Forbes, bantam, of Columbus, Ohio, decisioned Joe Ryder of Brooklyn, eight rounds. Ernie Peters, flyweight, of Chicago, beat Irish Mickey Gill, of Dublin, Ireland, eight rounds.

Coach Meehan Expects to Give New York One Winner

SUBWAY FLATFEET ARE ONLY HANDICAP

BY DAVIS J. WALSH

NEW YORK, Oct. 23—Unless it so happens that the outfit is riding for a fantastic ball, and Rutgers, Carnegie Tech, Davis-Elkins and Nebraska are dead ahead, it would appear that Chick Meehan has done something in two years at New York University that has defied 10 years and five coaches at Columbia.

All of the five—Fred Dawson, Buck O'Neill, the late Percy Houghton, Dr. Paul Withington and Charley Crowley—were good. Most of their teams were bad.

That is hardly true of the New York varsity of 1926. At least one can obtain a general demurrer on the point from Niagara, Allegheny, West Virginia Wesleyan and Tulane, defeated in order for the total of 92 points to 7.

Columbia and New York University have nothing in common. Both have a tremendous enrollment, taking rank with the greatest in the land. Both are in the heart of our biggest city and draw much of their enrollment from the native cliff dwellers, who are great on endurance but flat on their feet from standing in the subway. Perhaps that may be the answer to this best of all New York University teams. Nine of the 11 regulars are pleased to hail from out of town.

One Star in Jack Connor

There is, for example, Jack Connor, the greatest all-around man in the squad and one of the East's potential candidates for all American quarterback. Connor comes from Exeter, N. H. The town of Holyoke, Mass., claims Arthur Roberts, another good back, and John Bunyan whose Pilgrim's Progress usually is being made through the opposing guard. Al Lassman, the 208 pound tackle and an all-eastern candidate grew to manhood in Harvard's dooryard at Cambridge and his running mate, John Miller, turned his back on Syracuse, N. Y., and the hill in general to come here. Earl Ashton, end, is another who left a college town for better or worse. His home is at Easton, Pa., where Lafayette holds forth. The other wing, "Iron Faced" Riordan comes from Bristol, Conn., while Ken Streng, a back, and R. E. Dunn, center, are from West Haven and Waterbury in the same state.

Capt. Briante Is Local Man

The two remaining regulars, Captain Frank Briante, of the backfield, and Dave Shadin, a guard, must be said to be local products at the risk of offending White Plains and Brooklyn. In any case neither is a resident of Manhattan Island.

Connor, who kicks, runs, picks the plays and passes them "right in your eye," is the star of the outfit. The others are Lassman, shifty as a dancer in spite of his weight; Strong, Dunn, Roberts and Briante. The two guards Runyan and Smadin, played fine football against Tulane, particularly on offense. The rest of the team is typical of Meehan, with the possible exceptions of the ends. Both are reformed back field men, it being necessary to shift Ashton and Riordan up forward in the hope of adding greater speed and weight to the wings. It remains to be seen just how well this decision will work out.

In fact, if there is anything radically wrong with the team, it will be uncovered in the last four games. Rutgers held Washington & Jefferson and Holy Cross, two of the best, to reasonably close scores. Carnegie Tech made W. & J. step all the way. Davis Elkins always was the fight against the army and West Virginia, while Nebraska has lost only to Missouri and then after out-gaining the latter by eleven first downs to four. According to the statistics, The Corn Huskers were beaten in the air and beaten in their failure to cover kicks.

Nebraska Feared

The writer would say, off hand that New York University's best chance of finishing its season undefeated lies in the fact that Nebraska may be softened by that heroic schedule that prevails in the Missouri Valley Conference. The local team will play no such schedule; in fact, it should come up to the game at its best. Its list of games has permitted Meehan to rate his team in such a way that he finds one scrimmage a week sufficient. The rest of the time is spent in perfecting his defense and a program of screen plays behind which is conducted his passing and running attack with both a balanced and unbalanced line.

New York University should get at least as far as Nebraska without a defeat.

LODGE MEMBERS ORGANIZE TEAMS

Knights of Columbus To Be Represented by Five Squads

Knights of Columbus Lodge members interested in athletics plan to attend the regular meeting Tuesday night for the purpose of helping elect committee chairmen to organize representative teams in bowling, basketball, indoor ball and volley ball, it was announced today by Clarence Silva, chairman of the athletic committee.

Efforts are being made to organize two bowling teams to represent the local K. of C. Council. Matches are being arranged with Councils at Delaware Bucyrus, Mansfield, Columbus and Lima.

Marion Council will be represented this year at the annual state K. of C. tournament at Columbus. Challenges will also be extended a number of the leading K. of C. teams in Ohio.

K. of C. basketball activities will continue this season as planned last year. Players have been signed to make up one of the fastest teams in Ohio. First practice will be held the latter part of next week.

The K. of C. basketball team will open their schedule Thanksgiving night. Several teams have asked for the first game and to date none have been scheduled. Return games are to be played with a majority of the teams this season. Teams wishing games with a good fast lodge team should write local K. of C. headquarters.

Marion's K. of C. basketball stars plan to compete for the city's championship again this season and will also go to Columbus to play for the state championship. Two experienced coaches are being considered by the local lodge. To date no announcement has been made regarding any agreement. A coach will be employed at the business meeting Tuesday night, it is thought.

The local council is planning to organize one of the best indoor baseball teams in the city to play local and out-of-town teams this season. Indoor baseball will be started early in November.

Volleyball will also be started in November by the local K. of C. members.

ROBINSON SIGNS AGAIN TO PILOT BROOKLYN TEAM

Scout Sutton May Become President at Annual Meeting

By DAVIS J. WALSH

New York, Oct. 23—With managerial heads bounding merrily off the guillotine in a really disorderly manner, it is a pleasure to relate the directors of the Brooklyn Dodgers will hold their annual meeting today and that Wilbert Robinson, fat without being at all famous, will be retained as manager of the ball club. There had been some talk of Wilbert taking the air, which is the only thing that comes gratis around Ebbets Field. But apparently the boys thought better of the idea.

My information is that Robbie will be returned to his old job as plain and unvarnished bench manager and that Larry Sutton, the scout, will be elevated to the presidency. So much for that.

Simultaneously, comes the information that Dave Bancroft has decided to stick with the Boston Braves, leaving the field in Pittsburgh open to Fred Clarke. Arthur Fletcher and the rest of the pack. Judge Emil Fuchs probably had decided that one long ago, Bancroft being his property and none others.

Bancroft Not Joining Giants

However, it is interesting to hear that Bancroft has abandoned the Pittsburgh idea, because it never was a very good one, anyhow. The field is open there only as long as Clarke decides to leave it so. Fred could have had the job any time during the last dozen years and he can have it now if he wants it, which I am pleased to doubt.

It may be, however, that Clarke's hand has been forced by the wholesale release of Max Carey, Bill McKechnie, Stuffy McInnis and gents with kindred ambitions and that he will listen to the slick, city words of Dreyfuss or that already he has done so.

Anyhow the chances of Arthur Fletcher taking over the assignment are not esteemed so highly by those who know their eggplants. John A. Heydler is perfectly devoted to his umpires and Arthur loves them dearly, too. The only trouble is that he loves them most on the other end of a right cross and Mr. Heydler regards this purely emotional expression as one that shouldn't be encouraged.

They say that Fletcher, once out of the National League, will find it extremely difficult to return. This, to my way of thinking, would be a loss mutually felt by Fletcher and the National League.

* * *

LEE FOHL LEAVES BOSTON RED SOX

Lee Fohl's departure from Boston might bring Fletcher into the American League in charge of the Red Sox. This probably would be all right with Arthur, who has sent the last few seasons with the Phillies, has corns on his shoulderblades and is impervious to suffering. It also is regarded as a possibility that he will land with the St. Louis Browns.

As for Fohl's visit with Dreyfuss, the most logical interpretation, if any, is that Lee might become coach of the Pirate pitchers, both of them.

The New Yorkers were favored to win, but not by an overwhelming score, as the southerners have been pointing for this game all season.

Jubilee's Pardner

A Story of Boyhood Adventures

BY JUDD MORTIMER LEWIS

Today was Saturday, and I guess if it hadn't of been the teacher would of had us all staying in at recess and after school. Jubilee was watching me when I woke up and he wagged his tail, so I guess he knows which days are Saturday and which are not. I sure felt good because I didn't have to take the cows out to the pasture.

I let Jubilee down by the pipe in the yeath and then I crawled back into bed to get warm again, and the next I knew my father was shaking my shoulder to wake me up, and then he went downstairs and got into bed to get warm again, and I got up and made the fire in the kitchen, and when I had milked the dummed brutes my grandfather said for me to stick around a little while after breakfast and I could see him put in the base burner. That meant that I had to carry the pipe down out of the brick, and help polish it and help bring the stove downstairs and polish it, and after I got all the work done he was going to put up the stove, and he did, and looked real pleased with himself.

The bunch had all come and had skun it somewhere because they did not want to wait. And after the stove I had my father didn't box me.

Then was when I went out the stable. I was so mad by that time that I went down to the Bridge and shot Hammer in the ear, and if I couldn't of found him when I was maddest I wouldn't of made his heels bleed and I was all over being mad when I saw him coming a block away, so I turned off and went home. But if I ever catch him when I'm mad he had better look out.

When I got home Youniss and Maggie and Feetle were there, and they were in the house and having a good time. My mother always asks girls in, but hardly ever asks boys in unless their folks are along, and even my aut is nice to girls.

Feetle had a clay pipe with a cork in it, and there was a tiny hole just above the short stem, and she asted my aut to see if she had strong enough lungs to blow the cork out, and my aut tried and there was lamp black in the bowl, and it came out two little hole and gave her quite a mustache, and she didn't know it, so we all went to Miss Parmer's so as to not be there when she found it out.

She blamed it on me at supper. But my father didn't box me.

Daily Bedtime Story

BY HOWARD GARIS

Uncle Wiggily and His Friends

"Now that winter is coming," said Uncle Wiggily to his wife one day, "I had better see about getting our carrots."

"Yes, it would be a good idea," agreed the lady rabbit. "With our forty 'leven little bunnies to nibble them, we shall need many carrots and some turnips and cabbage, also, to carry us through the winter."

So Uncle Wiggily hopped along the road until he saw a field of carrots which had been planted by Mr. Chuck, the father of Woodie and Waddie, the woodchuck boys.

"What are you asking for carrots today, Mr. Chuck?" inquired the bunny.

"Two shilling a peck," was the answer.

"I'll take about fifty pecks," went on Mr. Longears and that afternoon they were dumped in a golden yellow heap outside the back cellar door of the hollow stump bungalow.

"It's a good thing you got your carrots today," said Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy, as she finished washing the dinner dishes.

"Why so?" asked Uncle Wiggily. "Wouldn't there have been any tomorrow?"

"Oh, I didn't mean that," Nurse Jane answered. "But this is Saturday and there is no school, so all your little boy rabbits can help you carry the carrots down cellar to store them away for winter."

"That's so!" chuckled Uncle Wiggily. "I'm glad you thought of that. I will need the help not only of my little boy rabbits, but the little girl rabbits also, to help me get all these carrots stored away."

But when Uncle Wiggily called for Jingle and Jangle and Bumble and Stumble and Nimble and Skimble to come and help him, not a boy or girl bunny would do so much as toss one carrot into the cellar.

"I want to play keep house," said Jingle.

"I want to play with my doll," said Jangle.

"I must practice football," was how Bumble excused himself.

"And I am going with Johnnie and Billie Bushytail to help the squirrels look for nuts," said Skimble, and so it went.

"Well," said Uncle Wiggily, "it looks as if I would have to take all the carrots down cellar myself." But then he happened to think of a funny story written by Mark Twain about a boy whitewashing a fence. "I'll do it!" exclaimed Mr. Longears. "Maybe it will work!"

Standing beside the big pile of carrots, Uncle Wiggily took up one at a time and tossed it in through the open cellar window. Carrot after carrot he tossed, taking careful aim each time. After a bit along came Bumble, and when he saw Uncle Wiggily the rabbit boy asked what the bunny gentleman was doing.

"Shooting carrots!" was the answer.

"Want are you shooting at?" asked Stumble, who also came along just then.

"At the bin in the cellar," was the answer. "I am seeing how many shots it takes me to put a carrot in the bin."

"Oh, let me do that?" begged Bumble.

"I want to shoot carrots!" cried Stumble.

"And I!" said Jingle and Jangle, running around the corner of the bungalow. "Please let us shoot carrots!"

"Oh, it takes much practise to toss carrots into the cellar," said Uncle Wiggily, serious like. "I couldn't think of letting you children do it," and he shied another yellow vegetable through the window, pretending it was very hard work.

"Oh, please let us shoot carrots!"

He tossed it through the open cellar window.

begged the little bunny boys and girls, and, after they had teased him a long while, Uncle Wiggily said they might, but they must be very careful.

And then I wish you could have seen these little rabbits eagerly tossing carrots in the window, when they had to do it one at a time, instead of carrying them down the door stairway by the basketful as they could have done. But in the end all of Uncle Wiggily's carrots were in the cellar and he didn't have to put in more than a few himself.

"It was such fun for the children to do it," he said, winking one eye at his wife and Nurse Jane. So that's how it came about. And if the rubber ball will let the ant lady crawl inside and roll down town in the rain, so she can keep herself dry, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily's honey cakes.

Today in Marion Markets

Groceries, Produce, Meats, Grain, Livestock

The farm price of eggs in Marion yesterday took a leap to 42 cents a dozen in several poultry houses while a few provision houses in the city were offering as high as 44 cents a dozen. The retail price ranged from 47 to 50 cents a dozen.

The increase to 42 cents yesterday marked the third increase of the week in the egg market. On Monday, the farm price of eggs was set at 39 cents. Tuesday it was placed at 40 cents. Thursday farmers were receiving 41 cents and yesterday the 42-cent mark was reached.

Although the wholesale price of eggs has undergone many changes the retail price has remained in the neighborhood of the 46 and 48 cent mark during the week.

Butter today was selling at 44 cents, the regular Saturday special price. The regular price for the dairy product is 48 and 49 cents.

Meat Specials

Specials in meat markets attracted attention today. Swiss steak was selling at 21 cents and round and sirloin were priced at 23 cents a pound. Lard was selling at 16 cents. Oysters remained firm at 65 cents a quart.

Vegetables of every variety filled the local counters to capacity early today. No change in price was attached except in stores where specials prevailed.

Head lettuce, leaf lettuce, endive, green onions, dry onions, carrots, radishes, cabbage, hothouse and homegrown tomatoes, cauliflower, celery, potatoes, sweet potatoes, turnips, new corn and parsley were on sale in local vegetable markets.

The fruit list today included peaches, pears, oranges, lemons, grapes of every variety, persimmons, grapefruit, quinces, melons, honey dews, bananas, dried prunes, and cocoanuts. No change in price was reported.

INDUSTRIALS DROP WITH HEAVY INFLUX OF ORDERS

Downward Movement in Prices Is Combined with Usual Short Selling

MARKETS AT A GLANCE

Railroad stocks steady, industrial stocks irregular, domestic bonds steady; foreign bonds steady; grain fairly steady; copper fairly steady; oil fairly steady; cotton fairly steady; rubber fairly steady; sugar fairly steady; pig iron firm; foreign exchange firm.

New York, Oct. 23—A downward movement in industrial stock prices at the beginning of trading today resulted from the fairly heavy influx of selling orders since the close of Friday's irregular session, combined with the usual short selling of the professionals.

After these orders had been absorbed, the market firmed up with United States ing a modest rally.

The testimony of the week-end economic and business surveys of Dun's Bradstreet's and leading Wall-st bankers was all in favor of constructive developments in business over the year-end. Recessions in important lines were admitted, but these were not expected to reach the proportions forecasted by so-called economic agencies.

Better results are anticipated from the retail trade.

After an early decline to 135¼, U. S. Steel common climbed aggressively to 138¾. Judge Gary's speech has put at rest all fears of destructive competition for American steel business with the European manufacturers, and inspired confidence in investors with respect to American steel stocks.

Stocks of the tire and rubber companies continued the rally which started near the close of Friday's market. A sharp rise in the stocks and bonds of the traction companies followed the rendering of the court decision barring the five cent fare referendum from the ballot on the city election. Interborough stock jumped six points to 45 and Brooklyn Manhattan Transit sold up two points at 61.

Motor stocks and specialties made a good showing in the second hour. National Dairy Products snapped back on short coverings; radio, baking, auto accessory and other important groups of specialty shares moved upward with the best in the list.

Cotton steadied and recovered most of the losses of the past three days on pre bureau short covering and trade buying. Week end commodity markets were quiet, but steady.

WATER SERVICE RULES CHANGED BY OFFICIALS

New Arrangement Guarantees Water Company Return on Extensions

New rules governing the installation of city water service lines are to be in force in the future as the result of discovery of defects in the plan that has been in effect since the granting of the water company's franchise. The form of petition for water line installations in use up to this time has provided no guarantee that property owners would use the water and it is to correct this error on that the new arrangement has been placed in effect. Agreement on revision of the plan was reached this week by the water company and city officials in order that the terms of the franchise may be complied with.

Under the provisions of the new franchise the water company is guaranteed one consumer for every 70 feet of pipe extensions installed. While the form of petition that has been filed with council to obtain extensions has contained a clause covering that feature, it does not bind the petitioners to any contract with the water company, officials say. The petition is addressed solely to council and as a consequence is merely an agreement between the city and property owners.

Must Sign Papers

In the future, each property owner who signs a petition for water line extensions must also attach his name to a contract with the water company guaranteeing that he will use the city water service as soon as it is available.

This guarantee is necessary, it is pointed out, to protect the water company against losses from installing mains from which it gets no returns. Members of council have agreed that this guarantee is assured the company under the terms of the franchise.

Practically all water line extensions petitioned for since the new franchise went into effect have been installed, so that the new plan will apply only to future applications.

A proposal that City Council cooperate with the water company by requiring that practically all petitions for extensions be filed early each year in order that the construction program for the entire 12-month period may be mapped out in advance is now under consideration. This system, it is stated, would be of decided advantage to both the company and the city. It would enable the company to order its pipe for the entire year at a time when iron and steel mills are not rushed and could guarantee delivery. Under the present plan, pipe must be ordered at various times during the year as petitions for extensions are filed, with the result that frequently it is impossible to get prompt delivery from the mills.

No Extensions

While work called for in nearly all petitions filed since enactment of the new franchise has been completed, there are numerous water service extensions requested the last four or five years which have never been made. These petitions call for approximately 12 miles of new water lines on various streets in all parts of the city. Favorable action was taken on all of these requests by Council but the lines were never installed because the water company during that period was handicapped by lack of finances.

With the new franchise in operation, the company is now in position to finance extensive construction work and it is probable that a large part of the extensions held up during the last few years will be made in 1927. In order to bring this about, however, property owners will be required to file petitions complying with the terms of the new franchise and accompanied by contracts guaranteeing a sufficient number of consumers for the water company.

CAPT. J. W. MASON HOLDS WORLD REVOLVER RECORD

Official Marking of Range Practice at Camp Perry Received Here

Capt. John W. Mason of Company D, 166th Infantry, of this city, holds the world's army record with a .45 caliber revolver, according to word received here today from the War Department at Washington, D. C.

Capt. Mason is said to have broken the world's record at Camp Perry this year by making 18 perfect scores out of a possible 200.

It has also been announced by the War Department that Co. D qualified more men on machine guns and more men on pistols at Camp Perry this year than any other company in the regiment.

Corp. Ronald Monroe of Co. D has been promoted to sergeant. First Class Privates C. E. Burdge and Carl Pollick have been promoted to corporals," it was announced today.

SPEAKER LAUDS COOPER, WILLIS, HOPLEY IN TALK

Mrs. Sarah B. Hyre, Cleveland, Addresses Republican Women at Courthouse

Arguments urging the election of Myers Y. Cooper as governor of Ohio, James R. Hopley as congressman from the Eighth district and return of Frank B. Willis to the United States Senate, constituted the main part of the address given by Mrs. Sarah B. Hyre of Cleveland at a meeting of women voters held Friday night in the Common Pleas courtroom here.

Mrs. Hyre, who is an officer of the Ohio Women's Republican Club and a member of the Cleveland Board of Education, spoke in particular regarding the candidacy of Mr. Cooper, stressing the need of placing a man of his training and ability in business affairs in charge of the state government.

The Republican candidate for governor was portrayed as an exceptionally high type of citizen whose success in business and numerous activities in public welfare enterprises qualify him admirably for taking over the duties of the state's chief executive. In discussing the Cooper candidacy, Mrs. Hyre reviewed issues involved in the campaign and declared that the policies outlined by Mr. Cooper for conduct of the highway, utilities and welfare departments and the handling of state finances provide the basis of needed reorganization in Ohio's government.

Coolidge Support

Election of Willis and Hopley was urged in order that the nation may support Pres. Coolidge's program of friendly co-operation with other countries, Mrs. Hyre declared.

The meeting, which was one of a series being held by women's organizations the Ralph committee started under the direction of the Republican state organization was attended by about 150 women of the city and other localities throughout the county. Mrs. W. N. Harder presided and gave a brief talk introducing Mrs. Hyre.

Prior to the meeting, Mrs. Hyre was entertained at a 6 o'clock dinner at Hotel Harding by Mrs. Harder, Mrs. C. M. Long, Mrs. Fred W. Warner and Mrs. Laura Foster.

Mrs. Hyre came here from Upper Sandusky, where she addressed women's meeting Friday afternoon and left this morning for Mt. Gilead, where she will speak at a similar gathering today.
